HARRISON TAUNTS REPUBLICANS ON PRIMARY RESULTS

"Political Season Has Produced Much Game," He Says—"Marksmen Have Bagged Good Supply."

"CLUNG TO CAL; STOOD BY ANDY"

Therefore Regulars Were Beaten, He Declares—Calls Roll of Casualties Among Newberry Men.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi made the Iowa primary election the occasion for a gleeful rubbing of salt into Republican wounds.

Addressing the Senate yesterday on the results of that and other recent primaries, Harrison delighted the Democrats and brought sheepish grins to the faces of the Republican regulars by calling the roll of those who have been defeated because they "clung to Cal and stood by Andy."

In more serious vein, the Mississippian read the long list of casualties among the 46 Republicans who voted in 1922 for the seating of Newberry of Michigan. Cummins was one of these. Others in the list were Pepper of Pennsylvania, Stanfield of Oregon and McKinley of Illinois, all of whom have been defeated for re-nomination in this year's primaries.

With these four counted out, there are only 21 remaining of the 46 "Newberry Senators." Death has removed a few; a great many more have been eliminated by defeat at the polls, either at primaries or regular elections. Of the surviving 21, 13 are up for re-election this year.

Harrison took his cue from two news articles—one written before the Iowa primary, setting out that "Coolidge is the sole issue before the voters," and the other telling of Brookhart's victory.

"Much Political Game," the procession," he said with mock solemnity, "moves along. This has been a very exceptional year. Strange things have happened. The political season has produced much game, and the marksmen have been successful in bagging a good supply."

"There was Illinois," he continued, "where the issue was 'Stand by the administration.' There was Oregon, where the issue was 'Stand by the administration.' And there was Iowa, where the issue was 'Stand by the administration.' And the four gentlemen who carried the banner of the administration went down to defeat by an overwhelming vote. No wonder the Senate chamber today appears like a funeral. All we need is some crepe and flowers."

Praising the four victims as able and experienced men, Harrison declared their misfortune was due wholly to the fact that they had "clung to Cal and stood by Andy too long and too much." The line ran like a refrain through his speech.

"Same Situation Everywhere," "Why," he exclaimed, "here is Pepper, from Pennsylvania. No able lawyer than he ever graced this chamber. A splendid speaker, a wonderful diplomat—and yet he clung to Cal and stood by Andy and went down with his banner. This situation does not pertain to any particular state or section. You find it in the East, you find it in the Middle West, you find it away out on the Pacific Coast."

"There is Bob Stanfield. He has not served here so long. He stood by the President on every vote. He has been subservient to the administration in everything. He is a fellow of fine character and personality, and able; and yet in a race among about six fellows he comes out second or third best. Standing by Andy and clinging to Cal is not popular, even out in the far West."

"And here in Iowa is a man who had been second to the President of the United States in holding office, who had presided over the Senate for years as president pro tem, who had been honored by his constituents as Governor and Senator term after term—because he stands by Cal—although he got off a little bit on this farm question—he is repudiated at the polls."

"About the only Republican Senator who has been able to squeeze through for his re-nomination was the distinguished senior Senator from Indiana, Watson, and it was not by clinging to Cal. He saw that that was a little dangerous, and so he began to cling to himself or to somebody else, and now he has begun to cling to the Vice President."

"The reference at this point was to Watson's close association with the Vice-President in recent parleys on a farm relief bill. Watson saw it coming. "There is no man in public life,"

Without organization support, he secured the nomination at the State convention after the voters failed to give any of six candidates a majority in the primary.

continued Harrison, "who is so keen at analyzing a political situation as the distinguished senior Senator from Indiana. He knows how the wind is blowing. He catches it before the rest of you can. He saw this thing coming and so he just shifted his sails a little bit and he let Andy and Calvin go along their own course. Now he has adopted a new economic leader, the Vice President of the United States."

"I do not know which one is the other's candidate for President. It may be that they will just swap around."

Facing the Republican side, Harrison went on:

"In all seriousness, I can understand why there is repudiation and trembling over there. There never was a time in the history of this body when men who are entrusted with the reins of this Government and charged with writing a program and carrying it through have been repudiated in greater numbers than during the Republican administrations of the last five years."

"I hold in my hands the vote that was taken on the Newberry case. That was when the downfall started, and that will be the finish of some more Senators when the election in November comes around. Some of them who happen to get through by a nomination will find themselves repudiated in November."

Cal's Newberry Roll. Harrison then called his Newberry roll:

"Here is Bursum. He received the verdict of his people. Here is Calder. He went likewise. Here is France, from over in Maryland. It goes from one end of the country to the other. People think the same. They read the papers. They know what you are doing."

So he went through the roll, name by name. When he came to Kellogg, he added:

"Of course by being defeated he was promoted a little bit. That is the way to do. Get defeated, and then get promoted by this crowd. If you cling to Cal and stand by Andy, they will take care of you—maybe."

Harrison then turned his attention to the Newberry supporters who will be up for election next fall. Some of them were there to hear him. He predicted fresh additions to the casualty list. Of the Harrison came to Watson, the Indiana Senator rose and defended his Newberry vote.

"I was for Newberry," said Watson genially. "I believed that the charges against him were unfounded. I believe so now. If I had to do it over again I would do precisely what I did. I never lost one vote in the world because of my vote for Newberry. I may say with something of boastfulness that I have just been before the people of Indiana and have received something like 165,000 majority my way. I am satisfied."

Election Yet to Come. "The Senator," retorted Harrison, "was not in the chamber when I told how acrobatic the Senator was in shifting his position from clinging to Cal and standing by Andy to clinging to Dages and standing by himself."

"The Senator said that he did not lose one vote in Indiana because of the Newberry vote. He went before the Republicans of that State and won a great victory, but he is yet to come before the whole electorate."

Harrison read the Senate resolution which seated Newberry and in the same breath condemned the excessive expenditures in his behalf.

"What other Senators over there," he challenged, "will rise now and say that they are not sorry they did not cast a vote against Newberry?"

No one rose.

"The Senator from Indiana," concluded Harrison, "will have a hard time convincing the voters that he was right when he voted for that kind of proposition."

NO DECISION AS TO WILLIAMS' LIQUOR POSITION

Senator's Campaign Managers Say It Is a Question for Him to Handle in His Own Way.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 9.—A group of United States Senator Williams' campaign managers in session here yesterday gave consideration to the stand the Senator will take on the question of prohibition during the campaign, seeking to arrive at a decision regarding a recommendation to be made coming to any other decision than that the question was one for the Senator to handle in his own way.

They had before them a confidential letter from the Senator in which he is said to have favored a referendum on modification of the Volstead Act, intimating that he would be willing to shape his course in the Senate in accordance with the result of a referendum.

Consideration of the question was the only direct outcome of the conference was the selection of a campaign committee of eight, which will confer with the Senator during the campaign on questions of policy. Those on the committee are former Gov. Hyde, State manager for the Senator; former Mayor Kiel, St. Louis manager; United States Marshal Hukriede, Charles Mitchell of Clinton, C. U. Philley of St. Joseph, R. R. Brewster of Kansas City, J. J. Franks of Joplin and State of Missouri Warehouse Commissioner Roy Monier of Kansas City.

The failure of the Senator to make a definite public statement of his position on prohibition thus far in the primary campaign has recalled to members of the last State Constitutional Convention speech, made by Williams in which he referred to the eighteenth amendment as "directly interfering" with the individual freedom of "all human beings in America."

"Williams' reference to the prohibition amendment was in the course of a lengthy speech, in the convention on July 31, 1923, urging adoption of a proposal to deprive the Legislature of the power to ratify or reject any amendment to the United States Constitution that 'impaired or qualified the individual rights of citizens.'"

Constitution Proposal Recalled. Williams' proposal would have placed that power of ratification or rejection in the hands of Missouri. His proposal offered for incorporation in the State Constitution was as follows:

"The General Assembly of this State has neither the right nor the power to vote for the ratification or rejection of a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States, if the purpose or effect of such amendment be to impair or qualify the individual rights of citizens of the United States. The right and power to ratify or reject such amendments is in the people."

The Journal of the constitutional convention gives Williams' full speech in support of the proposal, in which he reviewed the various amendments to the Federal Constitution.

Statement on Prohibition. Reaching the prohibition amendment, he declared: "The Eighteenth Amendment, adopted in April, 1917, 130 years after the Constitution was drawn, is a direct command to all human beings in America, directly interfering with their individual freedom on a matter not enumerated in the first article of the Constitution of the United States, and it was the first time our Federal Government has ever said to the citizen, or I should say, to the subject: 'Thou shalt not.'"

"At this point I hesitate," the Journal quotes him. "It is a matter for me to regret that a principle so fundamental, so big, so far-reaching should be confused in the minds of any of us with a question which involves so many other considerations than that of the validity of the thing we are discussing. I have tried faithfully to bring my thesis to the legal points involved and to support it with the historical instance I have given. I pray the delegates of this convention not to confuse that question with the question under consideration."

"If we intend to revert to bolshevism," he continued, "if we intend to lose the precious heritage given us as free men, if we intend to say that we are slaves of the State and that the State government and the Federal Government are not our masters, if we are subjects and not citizens, if the revolutionary war was fought in vain and if the day has come when a Legislature in 36 states can revolt successfully against the people of the United States, then I say the republic is dead and we have lost our birth right."

The Williams proposal was voted down the following day by a vote of 42 to 19.

A. F. Barnes Also Had 650 Shares of Stock in People's Bus Co.; Friend Is Beneficiary.

Augustus F. Barnes, who brought the People's Motorbuses Co. to St. Louis, left an estate consisting of $70.38 cash and 650 shares of Class B stock in motor bus company. He bequeathed the entire estate to Frank King Howell, described as "my friend." The nearest relative, it is said, is a niece. Barnes died April 25 at Hotel Jefferson. He was 61 years old. His property consisted of $27.52 found on his person, $42.86 salary due him as assistant to the president of the motor bus company and the stock certificate.

He received the shares, which he valued at $100,000, in exchange for four permits for motorbuses routes which he obtained in 1921, before interesting Eastern financiers in the bus project. Public Administrator Humpe considers the shares of doubtful value, inasmuch as they were issued against the value of the permits and not against other property.

JUDGE REBUKES FATHER WHO ACCUSED SON OF THEFT

Gayer Discharges 18-Year-Old Boy and Admonishes Parent and Brother.

Joseph Drwol, 18 years old, of 208 Victor street, was prosecuted by his father and brother on a charge of grand larceny in Judge Gayer's division of the Court of Criminal Correction in a preliminary hearing yesterday.

The father, Tom Drwol, and the brother, Mike, testified that $40 had been stolen from a box in the home while Joseph was there alone. They accused him of the theft.

"Do you want to send your son to the penitentiary?" Judge Gayer asked the father. "Yes, sir," he replied.

"Do you want to send your brother to the penitentiary?" Mike Drwol was asked. "Yes, sir," was his answer.

"A fine father and brother!" exclaimed the Judge. The defendant is discharged. There is absolutely no evidence that he took the money. You want to make a criminal of this boy. You are the ones who should be prosecuted."

Capt. Bernard F. McGuire, Adjutant of the 138th Infantry, Missouri National Guard, is a veteran of two wars. As a prelude to his World War engagements, he had four years of active service in the Philippines and emerged victorious from an encounter with natives at the crater of an extinct volcano 2200 feet high.

But last night he engaged in a petty quarrel and was routed, his face and neck burned by acid. The victor was his housekeeper, Miss Elizabeth Dengler, 36 years old, and the scene was his residence at 3212 Cherokee street.

Police were informed that the quarrel came to a climax at 7:15 o'clock with McGuire dashing from his own house and Miss Dengler holding the contents of a bottle of acid at him. The bottle is held as evidence and a warrant will be sought against Miss Dengler.

The nature of the quarrel was not ascertained. McGuire could not be reached for a statement at his office in the Armory, Grand boulevard and Market street.

McGuire is 40 years old, and has been in military service since he was old enough to enlist. For many years he was stationed in St. Louis as a recruiting officer of the regular army.

TWO MEN SLAIN WHEN THEY RESIST ARREST

Oklahoma Patrolman Wounded During Fight With Police Characters.

By the Associated Press.

PICHER, Ok., June 9.—Lee Flournoy and Charles Mayes, police characters, were killed, and Grover McCleary, patrolman, was critically wounded in a fight here early today in which two other officers participated.

Flournoy and Mayes were shot and killed by William Schmoothebach, merchant policeman, and Deputy Sheriff M. L. Woolsey of Picher. McCleary was accidentally shot by the other officers while he was attempting to go to their assistance.

Both Flournoy and Mayes were reared in Webb City, Mo., where they began careers of crime. They were arrested many times on charges of robbery, burglary and other crimes, and Flournoy served jail and penitentiary terms.

Both men carried to their deaths the scars of bullets from previous encounters.

Mayes, shot and critically wounded last fall in a pistol fight on a highway near Lawrence, Kan., in which one man was killed, later admitted he had for months been engaged in whisky running from Kansas City and Kansas points. He was released only a few months ago by Kansas City police, who had held him on a charge of shooting a motor cycle officer there in making an escape with a load of liquor.

Flournoy was convicted of manslaughter at Carthage, Mo., in 1920. In connection with the killing of Henderson B. Wallace at a roadside house near Joplin, June 5, 1919, he made a daring jail delivery while he was serving a sentence of a year in the Jasper County jail for that crime. Later he was captured and sent to the penitentiary for breaking jail.

The shooting occurred on a downtown street in Picher about 2:30 a. m. Police said it came as the climax to a night of drunken revelry in which Flournoy and Mayes had attempted to "shoot up the town" and had been engaged by Schmoothebach and Woolsey in a running fight in motor cars.

Mayes, 33 years old, was shot through the heart and fell as he stood beside a motor car in the street. Flournoy, 31, was shot through the body. He died in a few minutes.

X-RAY PHOTO SHOWS HOW OPEN SAFETY PIN LAY IN WOMAN'S LUNG

Test Made on Dog to Insure Success of Operation on Mrs. Mary Bonham.

SAFETY PIN IN WOMAN'S LUNG REMOVED IN 3 1-2 MINUTES

Test Made on Dog to Insure Success of Operation on Mrs. Mary Bonham.

A small open safety pin, accidentally swallowed last Sunday by Mrs. Mary Bonham, 26 years old, of 2405 North Twelfth street, was successfully removed from her left lung yesterday at City Hospital.

The operation was performed by a member of the visiting staff, who used an X-ray fluoroscope and a bronchoscope to locate the pin and remove it. It required only three and a half minutes, and was performed without the use of anesthetics.

The pin was lying point upward, and the surgeon, by means of the bronchoscope, moved it to the right lung to turn it over, rather than draw it out point first. Mrs. Bonham suffered no ill effects, and unless complications develop, will be returned to her home in a few days.

Because the operation was unusually complicated by the fact the pin lay point upward, the surgeon prepared himself for it by placing a pin in a dog's lung Monday night and removing it.

$2750 STOLEN FROM SAFE OF DAIRY

Burglars Visit Office of Dairy Company While 20 Employees Are at Work in Room

While 20 employees worked in the loading platform and cooler at the rear of the Quality Dairy Co., 20 West Florissant avenue, last night burglars entered the front office, battered the combination door safe, and stole about $2750 in cash. The robbery was discovered at 10 p. m. today when Andrew J. W. of 2628 McNair avenue, went to the office at the end of his night work. When he went on duty at 10 p. m. the safe was intact, he said.

Wolf said he was in and about the cooler during the night, observing the loading of milk into the company's wagons. A large motor truck was in the cooler, and he saw the noise made by the robbers, he said.

The crackmen apparently entered through an unsecured door and pried open the inner door of the safe. The money had been placed in the safe last night by Arnold F. Steinlage, manager of the dairy.

FIVE ACCUSED OF PLOT TO OVERTURN FASCIST REGIME

Charges Made by Rome Prosecutor Against Socialist Deputy and Gen. Cr-elio.

FORMER HEAD OF MASONS RELEASED

Plot Said to Have Included Plan to Assassinate Mussolini While He Was Speaking.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1926 by The Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.) ROME, June 9.—The public prosecutor has filed charges against the Socialist Deputy Zamboni, Gen. Capello, former war chief of Italy; Ulysse Ducci Feruccio, Nicolozio Luigi Cammario and Angelo Ursella, accusing them of having been participants in the plot to assassinate Premier Mussolini last November and overthrow the Fascist Government. Ursella is still at liberty, a fugitive from justice. The others were arrested.

Other men who were arrested for complicity in the plot have been released, the prosecutor finding no evidence against them. Among them is Torgiani, who was head of the Italian Masons until their suppression a year ago. Zamboni is the only one of the prisoners who is charged with the actual attempt to kill the Premier. He was caught red-handed according to the police, in a hotel room not far from the Foreign Office and directly across the street from a balcony from which Mussolini was to speak. In the room the police claim to have found a rifle set up with telescopic sights and so aimed as to make the killing easy. Near the hotel they found an automobile belonging to Zamboni equipped with arms and food. The actual charges against the four beside Zamboni are: Complicity in an attempted premeditated murder, fomenting civil war and inciting to a violent change in the Government and its form, carrying out a secret and seditious propaganda against the Government, and collecting and administering funds for these purposes. The case is signed by General Prosecutor Cristofari of Rome and Vice Prosecutor Marinagelli.

HEAD OF RETAIL DRUGGISTS RETURNS RECALL PETITIONS

Not Interested, Says F. H. Fricke; Secretary Objects to Being Used for Propaganda. Officers of the Retail Druggists' Association said today they were not aware, as yet, of any general reaction on the part of members to the action of the Miller Recall Committee in sending petitions for the recall of Mayor Miller to all the pharmacies in the city with a request that they be displayed for customers to sign. F. H. Fricke, president of the association, said he objected to the procedure, not being interested in the recall movement, as he is a Democrat. He returned the petitions sent him. Sidney H. W. Wortmann, secretary of the association, said he ignored the petitions, remarking, "I don't see why they should pick on me for propaganda." The association has 620 members. There are about 650 drug stores here.

John J. Hill, chairman of the Recall Committee, expressed belief that many druggists would be willing to let interested customers sign petitions in their stores. He thought enough additional names would be obtained to make the effort worth while. There are 88,992 signatures on recall petitions now, the committee announced today, 541 having been added in the last 24 hours. The minimum required is 60,456, but the goal is 120,000.

ACCUSED OF KILLING PRISONER

By the Associated Press. HOUSTON, Tex., June 9.—The Harris County grand jury has indicted W. T. Hill, guard at the city prison farm, charging him with the murder of Willy Ziegler, a prisoner.

Hill is alleged to have beaten Ziegler to death with a whip last week, when the prisoner did not work to suit the guard. Hill is held in jail in default of $10,000 bond. Senate Passes Bill to Buy Silver. WASHINGTON, June 9.—The Pittman bill, directing the purchase of 34,500,000 ounces of silver at $1 an ounce, was passed last night by the Senate without a recorded vote, but was immediately made subject to reconsideration when Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, an opponent of the measure, protested that it had been passed while he was out of the chamber. The measure, which may now be called up at any time for reconsideration, is an aftermath of the party days and would continue the policy established in 1918 to stabilize the price and encourage the production of silver.

Red Cross Makes Survey Of Meramec for Benefit Of Bathers and Canoeists

RED CROSS men demonstrate in these pictures the proper way to get in a canoe. The upper one shows how the paddler stoops on the dock and steadies the craft, at the same time lending the passenger a supporting hand; the passenger steps carefully into the center of the boat. The other picture shows the paddler getting into the stern, stepping in the center of the boat and distributing his weight by placing a hand on either gunwale near the thwart.

River Conditions Explained at Different Outing Resorts and Warning Advice Offered to the Inexperienced.

For the benefit of the thousands who go each week to the Meramec River, the Red Cross has made a survey of the favorite beaches with a view to pointing out the conditions which require caution on the part of bathers and canoeists. In their findings, two conditions stand out as of particular importance. One is the frequent presence of deep water opposite shallow spots where bathers enter the stream. The other is the almost invariable existence of holes at the foot of rapids.

With due regard and careful need not fear the deep shoals and the inexperienced can take their pleasure in the shallower places. The Meramec has no unusual danger, the investigators found, and the number of accidents is in proportion to the size of the crowds that go there. It is a typical Ozark stream. The survey was made with the water at normal stage. Occasionally after heavy rains down the depth is greater and the danger increases.

18-Mile Stretch Surveyed. Using two canoes, the survey party went from Times Beach, at the Antler road, to Valley Park, a trip of about 18 miles. In the city were Joseph Law, assistant director of life saving and first aid for the national Red Cross; A. W. Cantwell, his assistant, a former football star; John C. Flint and Dr. Edward Hebling, volunteer members of the local Red Cross Life Saving Corps, the latter being a former Washington University swimmer; star: P. H. Byrns, executive secretary of the local Red Cross, and a Post-Dispatch reporter who is familiar with the Meramec.

To determine the depths they went into the water and touched bottom repeatedly, although in one place Cantwell was the only one succeeding in going all the way down, and in another, where there is a hole more than 50 feet deep made by gravel dredging, none could go the whole distance.

Warning signs are to be posted at some of the swimming places by the Red Cross. Only the generally used beaches were investigated, since elsewhere most of those entering the water are cabin owners and their friends who are familiar with conditions. Conclusions about the beaches follow: Times Beach—The inexperienced should stay near the western shore and at least 200 yards upstream from the bridge, where there is a dangerous rapid. Deep water follows the eastern bank. Beware the Bridge at Delco. Delco—Bathers should keep above the bridge, or eastern bank. Under the bridge and beyond the water is deep and swift and 300 yards downstream is a rapid ending with a hole. Glen Cove—The inexperienced should stay near the mouth of the Missouri Pacific Railroad side. On the opposite side is a gravel bar and rapid water, below which there is a deep stretch. Below the creek on the railroad side the depth is overhauled within a few feet from the bank. Palsades-Jedburg—Here is a place for able swimmers only, and others should stay away. There are rapids near an inviting beach on the south shore, and in mid-stream, opposite a dock on the

EFFORT MADE TO ELIMINATE ONE DRY AGAINST HAWES

Anti-Saloon League Questioning Members as to Preference Between Meredith and Cockrell.

SURVEY SUGGESTED BY TWO CANDIDATES

Inference Carried That One Showing Least Strength Would Be Willing to Quit U. S. Senate Race.

The Missouri Anti-Saloon League has begun circulating its members throughout the State in an effort to eliminate one of the two "dry" candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, in the hope of defeating Congressman Hawes, whom it classes as "the wet candidate." Members of the League, to whom the circular letters were sent, were asked to obtain from as many Democrats as possible an expression of choice between Willis H. Meredith and Judge Ewing Cockrell, "dry" candidates and report to the League headquarters in St. Louis not later than June 15.

It was stated in the letter that Meredith and Cockrell have suggested that a survey of the State be made as to their relative strength, this carrying the inference that the one showing the least strength would be willing to drop out of the race.

Substance of the Letter. The Rev. Parker Shields, superintendent of the League, said in the letter that with both Meredith and Cockrell running the "dry" vote would be split and Hawes would be nominated. The Rev. Mr. Shields today refused to discuss the letter. "We are not giving out any information on that," he said. "It would be unfair to the candidates."

The Anti-Saloon League letter follows: "From all parts of Missouri letters have been received deploring the situation we face in the Democratic senatorial primary campaign. With Congressman Harry Hawes recognized as 'wet' candidate and with the Hon. Willis H. Meredith and Judge Ewing Cockrell as 'dry' candidates, thus splitting the 'dry' vote, there can be but one outcome—the nomination of a 'wet'."

Suggested by Candidates. "Both Mr. Meredith and Mr. Cockrell have suggested that a survey of the State be made as to their relative strength in this campaign. In view of this, we are asking you to canvass as many Democratic men and women voters of your community as possible in the next week and return the results to the Missouri Anti-Saloon League, 802 Victoria Building, St. Louis, Mo., not later than June 15. Use the enclosed sheet and simply check mark to indicate the opinion of each voter as to the growth strength of these two senatorial candidates. Do not fail to send in your report by June 15."

A confidential adviser of one of the candidates told the Post-Dispatch he was satisfied there was no argument between the two regarding withdrawal. He said in his opinion the canvass was too early to obtain any information of value, and he doubted if it would have any effect. $161,000 EXPENDED IN PINCHOT'S RACE IN G. O. P. PRIMARY Continued from Page One.

Organization raised a fund of $119,324. This included $60,000 contributed by the Governor himself. The rest came mainly, as later testimony showed, from members of his family. The amount collected by the western organizations was $685. After allowing for duplications in the various funds, the committee arrived at an aggregate of about $161,000, exclusive of the amounts which are yet to be reported by the county organizations. Pinchot said that the money was spent for the maintenance of headquarters, for publicity, including newspaper advertising, for organizers, watchers at the polls and campaign circulars.

No State Employees Solicited. He declared emphatically, in reply to a question by Senator King, that no State employees had been called upon to contribute to his fund. On the contrary, Pinchot said, he issued a formal statement that every State employee was free to vote as he liked, and that State time should not be used in campaigning for any candidate.

Pinchot said that he had been supported by several labor organizations, including the United Mine Workers of Pennsylvania and by the W. C. T. U. He understood that under the State law they would be required to account for any money spent in his behalf.

Senator King evinced special interest in the part played by the Anti-Saloon League in the campaign. Responding to his questions, the witness said that the League made no contribution to his campaign fund and was not active for him.

"Was Wayne B. Wheeler active?" asked King. "Not so far as I know," was the reply. "Was the W. C. T. U. active?" "It worked very hard for me," he said. Later Pinchot testified that some of the expenses of the W. C. T. U. had been met out of his campaign fund.

Dry Bent on Beating Vane. He said that the Anti-Saloon League was concerned with beating Vane, the wet candidate, and that either he (Pinchot) or Pepper was acceptable to it. "They could be happy with either," declared Reed, "were they not quarreling away?" Pinchot grinned at an assent.

Pinchot was asked to tell about a special session of the Legislature, which he called for the purpose of getting new anti-fraud provisions written into the election statutes. He said that the result had been negligible. One of 11 bills which he caused to be introduced, in which he was defeated and one was "emasculated" before it was passed. He attributed this outcome to the opposition of "machine State senators," especially those from Pittsburg.

The Republican City Committee of Philadelphia, he said, sent its attorney to the State Capital to fight the reform. Questioned about reports of frauds in Pittsburg, Pinchot said he had ascertained officially that a check of the registration books showed about 7000 persons to have been falsely registered. He had read, he said, that the Pittsburg returns were taken into the courthouse after the election and held there for an undue length of time by the county commissioners.

MAN WHO SHOT DRY AGENT RELEASED ON $10,000 BOND

Joseph Sinovich Surrenders; Joseph Dillon, Whom He Wounded, Is Recovering.

Joseph Sinovich, 33 years old, of 4025 Bayless avenue, Luxemburg, who shot James Dillon, group chief of prohibition agents, when Dillon and three agents raided the basement of his home Monday night, today surrendered at the Federal Building and gave bond of $10,000. On advice of counsel he declined to discuss the shooting. He was released pending the preliminary hearing, July 2, before Commissioner Atkins.

Sinovich is charged in a warrant with wounding Dillon and with resisting service of a search warrant. Each charge carries maximum punishment of a year in jail and a $300 fine. Sinovich has been arrested three times for liquor violations but escaped punishment each time, although men arrested with him were fined and imprisoned.

Dillon suffered a flesh wound in the neck and is recovering. He called upon to contribute to his fund.

On the contrary, Pinchot said, he issued a formal statement that every State employee was free to vote as he liked, and that State time should not be used in campaigning for any candidate.

Pinchot said that he had been supported by several labor organizations, including the United Mine Workers of Pennsylvania and by the W. C. T. U. He understood that under the State law they would be required to account for any money spent in his behalf.

He had read, he said, that the Pittsburg returns were taken into the courthouse after the election and held there for an undue length of time by the county commissioners.

"One man in Pittsburg," added the Governor, "said that the election in that city was not held on Tuesday but on Thursday."

Pro-Pepper Election Board. "What was the political complexion of these commissioners?" he was asked. "They were for Pepper," the witness replied.

Pepper was the candidate of the Mellon organization, whose stronghold is Pittsburg. Pinchot made it plain that he had no first-hand knowledge of irregularities in Pittsburg. In reply to questions by the committee, he gave the names of persons who might be expected to know the facts.

Senator Goff, who had been studying a book of the Pennsylvania elections laws, remarked at the end of the session that they appeared to place no limit on personal expenditures, but only on "the gratitude of one's friends."

"Or on the interest of one's friends," amended the witness smilingly.

R. L. DULA'S QUARRELS WITH HIS WIFE AIRED

Witnesses in Her Alienation Suit Say Pair Were Heavy Drinkers.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 9.—"At times Mr. and Mrs. Dula were very happy and at times very unhappy," testified Peter A. Cameron of White Plains, former business partner of Robert L. Dula, at the trial yesterday of Mrs. Elsie Hinman Dula's $250,000 suit, filed three years ago against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Josephine Dula, for alleged alienation of her husband's affections. The trial, before Supreme Court Justice Crain, was resumed today.

Mrs. Josephine Dula is the widow of Robert B. Dula, former vice president of the American Tobacco Co., and a former resident of St. Louis. The younger Mrs. Dula recently obtained a separation and an allowance of $5000 a year from Robert L. Dula, whom she married Dec. 30, 1919, 11 days after divorcing her first husband, Charles G. Lewis.

Opens Case for Plaintiff. Frederick E. Kline, attorney for the younger Mrs. Dula, in opening the case, declared he would show the elder Dula had allowed his son a fine country home in Westchester County, and that the young people lived at the average rate of $22,700 a year; that thereafter, without reason, the father and mother so completely alienated their son from his wife that he left her and she has since then been obliged to support herself.

The elder Mrs. Dula, in deep mourning for her husband, who died April 27, was the first witness. She was accompanied in court by a nurse and another son, Grover C. Dula. She testified that she did not entertain her son's wife prior to his marriage. After they returned from Europe, in September, 1922, she said, he spent much time with her and his father at their Tarrytown and Park Avenue homes.

Cameron, on the stand, said that, following the European trip, he took young Dula to a sanitarium at Stamford, Conn., where he told policemen his wife had taken 100 tablets of a headache cure June 1, in an effort to end her life. She had been under treatment of a doctor since, he said, and he had not thought it necessary to report the incident to police. When his wife became worse the doctor advised her removal to the hospital. He gave no cause for his wife's action.

Woman Tries to End Her Life. Mrs. Ella Walberg, 43 years old, was taken from her home, 5871A Easton avenue, in a serious condition, last night, suffering from poisoning. Her husband, Joe, told policemen his wife had taken 100 tablets of a headache cure June 1, in an effort to end her life. She had been under treatment of a doctor since, he said, and he had not thought it necessary to report the incident to police. When his wife became worse the doctor advised her removal to the hospital. He gave no cause for his wife's action.

What Is a "Dutiful" Wife? Patrick A. Gorman, vice president of the Universal Leaf Tobacco Co., caused a giggle when, asked by Klein, if the young Mrs. Dula conducted herself as a dutiful wife, he counter-questioned. "Well, give me a definition of a dutiful wife?" Justice Crain ordered him to try to answer. "Dutiful," he said, "means that she should be a dutiful wife."

"On the other hand," suggested Outerbridge Horsey, attorney for the mother-in-law, "when they were drinking they presented a somewhat contrary appearance."

"Yes," Gorman admitted. Mischa Elman a Father. SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—A girl was born yesterday to the wife of Mischa Elman, violinist. The infant was named Nadia.

FRANCE DEFENDS POSITION ON ARMS DISCUSSION

Gives Three Reasons Why Land, Sea and Air Equipment Cannot Be Considered Separately.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, June 9.—France, today reiterated her contention that land, naval and air armaments cannot be treated separately in any effort to bring about disarmament. This view, on the whole, differs from the British and American thesis that they can be studied separately.

The French viewpoint was embodied in a memorandum submitted to the Military Committee of the Preparatory Disarmament Commission.

France presented three main reasons for her attitude. The first was that land, naval and air forces served an identical purpose, either in the protection of land, sea and air frontiers, or communications.

The second point was that in the case of many countries, the value and efficiency of forces depend upon naval and air efforts.

The third contention was that any decision with reference to armaments of one category could not be confined solely to that category. In support of this France argued that airplanes can act against objectives on land and sea, that land forces can attack an adversary in the air or fleets attacking a coast and that countries possessing command of the sea may combat airplanes and the transport of land forces.

Two Held for Taking Bribe. Internal Revenue Agents Said to Have Accepted $17,500. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 9.—Two internal revenue agents have been arrested, charged with accepting a bribe of $17,500 from Clifford W. Smith, a millionaire of Rockland, Me. (The men, Victor H. Bergholz and Joseph M. Statler, are alleged to have promised Smith to reduce excess income taxes for him by $100,000.) They pleaded not guilty and were held in $6000 bail each.

Woman Tries to End Her Life. Mrs. Ella Walberg, 43 years old, was taken from her home, 5871A Easton avenue, in a serious condition, last night, suffering from poisoning. Her husband, Joe, told policemen his wife had taken 100 tablets of a headache cure June 1, in an effort to end her life. She had been under treatment of a doctor since, he said, and he had not thought it necessary to report the incident to police. When his wife became worse the doctor advised her removal to the hospital. He gave no cause for his wife's action.

What Is a "Dutiful" Wife? Patrick A. Gorman, vice president of the Universal Leaf Tobacco Co., caused a giggle when, asked by Klein, if the young Mrs. Dula conducted herself as a dutiful wife, he counter-questioned. "Well, give me a definition of a dutiful wife?" Justice Crain ordered him to try to answer. "Dutiful," he said, "means that she should be a dutiful wife."

"On the other hand," suggested Outerbridge Horsey, attorney for the mother-in-law, "when they were drinking they presented a somewhat contrary appearance."

"Yes," Gorman admitted. Mischa Elman a Father. SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—A girl was born yesterday to the wife of Mischa Elman, violinist. The infant was named Nadia.

DR. J. B. FEARN DIES IN SHANGHAI, CHINA

Brother-in-Law of Mrs. Oscar Johnson of St. Louis Was in Medical Work There.

Word has been received here of the death in Shanghai, China, Monday, of Dr. John B. Fearn, brother-in-law of Mrs. Oscar Johnson of 38 Portland place. He had been stricken with Bright's disease three weeks ago, but death was unexpected.

Dr. Fearn was born in Jackson, Miss. For the last 29 years he has done medical work in China, having been in Shanghai hospitals for the last seven years. Recently he was made head of the Municipal Hospital there.

During the World War he was a physician with the Chinese labor corps of the allies in France.

Dr. Fearn's wife, who is Mrs. Johnson's sister, is a physician and owns and operates a sanitarium in Shanghai.

Starting in January, 1925, Dr. Fearn toured the Orient, Europe and America, visiting Mrs. Johnson last June. The principal object of his trip was to study hospital methods in various cities.

Kirkwood Bond Election. Water and Light Issue of $200,000 to Be Voted on July 11. A special election for approval of the Kirkwood City Council's proposal to issue $200,000 in bonds for extension and improvement of the water and light systems will be held July 11. Reconstruction of the municipal water system to meet the demand of rapidly increasing population is estimated to cost $150,000. The rest will be used to improve electrical service. It is planned that there be no increase in taxation, profit from the municipal enterprises being sufficient to retire the bonds, according to Mayor Jacobmeyer.

Man's Arm Crushed in Machine. Robert Jones, 32 years old, of 4618 Olive street, suffered a crushed right arm yesterday, when a glove he was wearing caught in the machinery of a concrete mixer at Euclid avenue and Cupples place, drawing his arm into the cogs before the machine could be stopped. At City Hospital it was said he had suffered three fractures of the arm and lacerations of the face. Amputation of the arm, doctors said, might be necessary. His condition is serious.

Colorful reed furniture, upholstered in bright cretonne, is particularly desirable for the sunroom, porch or Summer living room, as well as for year-around use as occasional pieces. This Reed Suite—so light and summery looking—is very durably constructed and will wear as well as heavier types of furniture.

The Suite, pictured below, is made of genuine reed, finished in cool gray or serviceable nut brown, with comfortable spring-filled cushions covered with gay cretonne.

BIDS ON CITY WORK ALL LESS THAN ESTIMATES

Entry of Out-of-Town Contractors Into Field Causes Lowering of Offers.

As a result of recent bidding by out-of-town contractors on local street and sewer projects, bids received yesterday by the Board of Public Service for five streets, two sewer and 17 alley jobs were from one to 25 per cent less than the estimate of city engineers.

For the street paving jobs the total amount of the bids was $148,- 588.15, as compared with the city's estimate of a total cost of $195,000, a saving of $46,411.85. The bids on the sewer projects totaled $111,- 422.53, as compared to the city's estimate of $132,000, a saving of $20,577.46. The total cost of the 17 alley-paving jobs amounted to $23,433.50 on which the bids were from one to six per cent below the city's estimate.

The contracts will probably be let at the next meeting of the board next Tuesday, as there was no opposition to the bids yesterday. The five street projects on which bids were received are: Watson road, concrete paving from Pernod avenue to the city limits, $32,938.10; Loughborough avenue, grading and paving 26-foot concrete slab from Field to Gravois avenues, $52,132;
Lee avenue, asphalt from Taylor to Euclid avenue, $45,062.25; Day street, concrete paving from Kreskuk street south to end of Bay, $40,415.60, and Grand boulevard, grading from Loughborough to Stella street, $14,614.59.

A bid of $55,701.65 for the Glaisie Creek Sewer District No. 26 was the lowest received, and the lowest bid for Section 2 of the Ohio-Montrose Public Reefs: Sewer was $30,720.85.

RULING AGAINST TRIAL OF MOTLOW AT INDIANAPOLIS

Federal Judge at Nashville Decides in Favor of Dis-tiller and Two Associates in Jack Daniel Case.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 9.—
Lem Motlow and his two associates in the sale of the Jack Daniel whisky warehouse in St. Louis to George Remus and others, will not be required at this time to answer in Indianapolis to the indictment charging them with conspiracy in the unlawful removal of 893 barrels of whisky from the warehouse.
They will not have to go to Indianapolis at all unless the Government should appeal successfully from the ruling made here yesterday by Federal Judge John J.
Gore.

Judge Gore ruled that Motlow,
T. A. Heffernan and H. L. Dahlman were not shown, by the evidence submitted by the Government, to have had any connection with the offense, for which they were first indicted in St. Louis two years ago, and again in Indianapolis last October. A United States Commissioner here last December ruled against their removal.

Judge Gore, in his opinion, recites the fact that the three men formerly owned the capital stock of the distilling company, and sold out in June, 1923, to Don H. Robinson, who acquired the warehouse certificates for the liquor. He says the showing made by the Government does not even "cast a shadow of suspicion upon the defendants, nor give ground for guess, surmise or conjecture that they were implicated in the conspiracy."

"I cannot agree with counsel for the Government that the facts shown in the record are sufficient to justify me in holding that there is probable cause to believe the defendants, Motlow, Heffernan and Dahlman guilty and justify an order of removal," the Judge said. "It is true that the certified copy of the indictment, together with proof of admission of identity, makes out a prima facie case, but this prima facie case can be rebutted, and the defendants have a right to show the nonexistence of probable cause."
There is not an iota of proof in the record, that either of these three defendants had any connection with the violations complained of.

Motlow and his associates, although they employed George Remus, wealthy Cincinnati bootlegger, as their counsel in the sale of the distillery, had no way to know that at the time Remus was under indictment, it was pointed out. Their good faith, the opinion says, is indicated by the difficulty they had in making the purchases and paying the monthly rentals on the warehouse.
"It results," the Court states,
"that the order of removal is denied and the defendants will be discharged under the writ of habeas corpus. I do not decide the question, raised by the petition for habeas corpus, that holding of the case in St. Louis in the manner set out in the petition works a discharge of the defendants, because in violation of their constitutional rights to a speedy trial. All that I am deciding is that the evidence, fails to make out a probable cause of guilt."

St. Louis Indictment Dismissed
With Leave to Reinstatement.
The St. Louis indictment against Motlow, Heffernan and Dahlman, charging them with conspiracy in the unlawful removal of whisky from the Jack Daniel warehouse, was dismissed in April, with leave to reinstate it if the Government should so desire. The bonds of the three men were discharged at that time.

United States District Attorney Breuer, who has lately taken office, was asked today whether the indictment would be reinstated, in view of the action taken in Federal Court at Nashville. He replied that the case had been handled hitherto by direction of a special prosecutor, Assistant Attorney-General Marshall. He said there would be no motion for reinstatement of the case unless the Attorney-General's office should direct him to file such a motion.

Warns Middle-Aged Women To Check High Blood Pressure

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in danger of high blood pressure. It is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs. This forces the heart to do more work and raises the blood pressure.
The symptoms are dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness or sleeplessness.
High blood pressure must be treated and stopped for everyone knows it brings on Bright's disease, apoplexy and often sudden death. It is too dangerous and quick acting to go without treating its symptoms.
Norma is a doctor's prescription for high blood pressure that has been used with great success.

Being a purely vegetable medicine it contains no habit-forming drugs, is harmless, and works in such a way that it drives out waste matter, lessens the duty of the overtaxed heart and reduces blood pressure swiftly and safely. Often one bottle brings great relief. Get a bottle of Norma today and free yourself of this horrible high blood pressure. For sale by Wolff-Willam

For paring a corn—go to a Chiropodist

To remove it at home—Use this safe way

"Hundreds of cases of serious foot injury can be traced to a slip of the razor," says Dr. James E. Galavan, Cleveland chiropodist. "Paring corns is a job for a skilled chiropodist." Visit your chiropodist as often as you do your dentist, if you would keep your feet in prime trim. But between visits, when a corn needs attention at home, put on a Blue-jay plaster.

The cool and soft pad fits over the corn, ending pressure and pain at once. Usually, in 48 hours, the corn is gone. But even the most stubborn "offender" seldom needs more than a second plaster. Standard for 26 years. At all drug stores.

GIFT OF $50,000 TO MOVE RADIO STATION

Lutheran Laymen to Support Concordia Plant—Synod Opens Sessions.

Radio Station KFUP, "the gospel voice of St. Louis," is to be removed from the old Concordia Theological Seminary at Jefferson avenue and Winnebago street, which was closed with graduation exercises yesterday to the new $2,000,000 institution at De Mun and San Bonita avenues, Clayton, which will be dedicated Sunday by the triennial convention of the Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other states.

The Lutheran Laymen's League at a session held in advance of the meeting of the synod, announced yesterday its gift of $50,000 to remove the station and increase its power from 500 to 1000 watts. Furthermore, it will provide $15,000 a year for maintenance of the station, which is directed by the officers of the seminary.

Synod Opens Sessions. The synod, which will continue until June 19, was opened with a service at Holy Cross Church, Ohio avenue and Miami street. Rev. F. Brand of St. Louis, a vice president of the synod, delivered a sermon. The first business session was held this afternoon. Committees are meeting at the Concordia Publishing House, Jefferson avenue and Miami street, and elsewhere in the vicinity, while all the convention sessions will be at Holy Cross Church.

Rev. Dr. F. Pfotenhauer of Chicago, president of the synod, is presiding.

Concordia Graduates. Ninety-six graduates received diplomas in the chapel of the old seminary yesterday. Eight of them received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Three honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity were bestowed also. The recipients were: Prof. L. Wesel and Prof. Theodore Engel of Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Ill., and the Rev. William Dallmann of Milwaukee, Wis. Dr. Dall-mann is an author and authority on the Reformation and on Christian education. The Rev. Dr. F. Pieper, president of the seminary here, made the presentations in Latin. Dr. Pieper and the Rev. Dr. R. Kreutzschmar, chairman of the seminary board of control, spoke in appreciation of the services on the faculty for the past 21 years of the Rev. Dr. W. H. T. Dau, who is leaving to become president of Valparaiso (Ind.) University, which has been taken over by the synod.

DISSENTING OPINION IN GOLTRA FLEET CASE

AWard of EPquipment to Warrior Line Assailed by Justice McReynolds.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-30 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In dissenting from the Supreme Court's decision, written by Chief Justice Taft and finally awarding the four tugboats and 19 barges of the "Goltra fleet" to the Mississippi-Warrior River Service, Justice Mc-Reynolds condemned the seizure of the boats by Gen. Ashburton in 1923 as a "high-handed" proceeding and paid sarcastic respects to the argument by Lon O. Hocker of St. Louis, special Government attorney, that the action of the War Department in the Goltra was not subject to review by the court.

"Theoretically," says his dissenting opinion, "everybody in this land is subject to the law."

"But of what value is the theory if performances like those revealed by this record go unrebuked?"

"An army officer, having inflated himself into judge and executioner, decided that a fleet of tugboats and barges lying in the Mississippi River at St. Louis ought no longer remain in the custody of a private citizen who held possession of them under a solemn lease and contract of sale from the United States, and who, in order to make them operative, had expended upon them $40,000 of his own money. Then, waiting until Sunday arrived, he proceeded to grab the vessels by force and endeavored to run them beyond the jurisdiction of the court."

Action Called Autocratic.
"Action like that is familiar under autocracies, but the prevalent idea has been that we live under a better system."

"The trial court, after taking an ample indemnifying bond, issued a temporary injunction requiring that possession of the vessels be restored and remain as before the seizure until the rights of all parties could be properly considered and determined. The Circuit Court of Appeals reversed this interlocutory order and from its decree the case came here by certiorari."

"As a fitting climax to the high-handed measures pursued by the officer, special counsel for the United States appeared at our bar and bravely announced 'where the executive power has pronounced its finding or judgment within its proper sphere of action, a judicial judgment is not necessary to the enforcement of the executive one, for the reason that all the compulsive power of the Government is in the executive department and may be exercised by it in execution of its own processes and judgment, just as it is exercised by it in the execution of judicial process and judgment.'"

Forceful Condemnation.
"It is easy enough for us to smile at such stuff, but, unfortunately, the evil effects are not dissipated by gentle gestures.
There should be condemnation forceful enough to prevent repetition so long as men have eyes to read."

"In the Circuit Court of Appeals, Judge Sanborn presented a well-considered dissenting opinion and pointed out that the only judicial question before that court was whether or not the order for the injunction and the record disclosed an unlawful, imprudent or abusive use of the sound discretion which the trial judge was required to exercise."

"He could find no such abuse and neither can I. The trial court did no more than the circumstances permitted. We should approve its action with commendation of the impelling courage and good sense."

INTER - MARRIAGE BARRED

Filipinos Cannot Wed White Persons in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.— Filipinos and white persons cannot intermarry in California, U. S.
Webb, State Attorney-General, has ruled. The opinion was requested by the San Diego County District Attorney. Webb's opinion held Filipinos are classed as "Mongrels" under section 600 of the civil code, which prohibits intermarriage of the races, and the San Diego authorities were instructed not to issue a license to persons of that classification.

BOARD APPROVES PLAN FOR SCHOOL REORGANIZATION

Ratifies Demotion and Re-assignment of Assistant Superintendents at Lower Salaries.

FIVE NEW DIVISION DIRECTORS NAMED

Opponents of Maddox Program Fight to the Last Ditch at Meeting but Are Outvoted.

The plan of Superintendent of Instruction Maddox for the administrative reorganization of the public schools was made effective last night when the Board of Education ratified the appointment of five directors to head five new divisions, two assistant directors and seven clerks. The personnel of the new administration was disclosed yesterday exclusively in the City Edition of the Post-Dispatch.

The board also approved the re-assignment of three assistant superintendents who were demoted under the plan. Each will suffer a salary reduction beginning next Sept. 6.

Miss Lillie R. Ernst, around whom the storm of opposition to the plan has centered, will become principal of the Mark Twain School at $5000 a year, as against $5000 she has been receiving. She formerly was assistant superintendent in charge of special schools.

B. G. Shackelford, formerly in charge of night and summer schools also at $5000 a year, draws a berth as head of one of the new divisions—that of school and community relations—at the maximum salary for that position, $5500 a year.

L. W. Baier, formerly in charge of intermediate schools at $4000, becomes supervisor of English at $5000 a year.

New Heads of Divisions.

The men who will head the other new divisions are:

Walter D. Cocking, to be director of the division of curriculum, books and supplies, at the fifth year's salary of this position, $4500.

H. H. Davis, to be director of the division of records and statistics, at the first year's salary of this position, $3750.

T. C. Holly, to be director of the division of housing and fixed equipment at the eighth year's salary of this position, $5250.

William H. Schueter, to be director of the division of personnel at the eighth year's salary of this position, $5250.

Opponents of the plan fought to the last ditch, Mrs. B. F. Bush and John C. Tobin voted "no" on the appointments and a letter, dated Rome, was read from Mrs. Elias Michael, who vigorously condemned the plan, particularly the demotion of the assistant superintendents.

Myrt A. Rollins, who explained his "aye" vote by saying it would do no good to vote "no," was chided by Mrs. Bush after the meeting for his desertion of the opposition to the plan.

Two Principals Detached.

The new plan permits the Superintendent to detach for temporary periods principals of schools for supervisory work formerly done by assistant superintendents.

Accordingly, Maddox last night obtained the board's approval for the appointment to such duty of H.
P. Stollwag, principal of the Harrison School, and J. S. Nantz, principal of the Bates School.

Body of Woman Washed Ashore.

By the Associated Press.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 9.—The body of Mrs. James Phipps, who had been missing since the middle of last winter when she and her husband and three children disappeared while driving across Lake Erie from Pelee Island, in an automobile, was washed ashore at Sturgeon Bay last night. The body was identified by Fred Gates, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Phipps.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicines and just see for yourself.

MISSOURI U. CONFERS DEGREES UPON 674

War Secretary Davis and Admiral Cointz Honored at Commencement.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
COLUMBIA, Mo., June 9.—President Stratton D. Brooks of the University of Missouri today conferred 674 degrees; 593 to undergraduates and 81 to graduates. Six honorary degrees also were conferred.

The honorary degrees were conferred upon Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War; Admiral Robert E. Coontz, United States Navy; Judge Robert F. Walker of the State Supreme Court; Joseph Wilson Sanborn, former dean of the Missouri Agricultural College; Hugh Lincoln Cooper, hydraulic engineer, and Joseph Marr Gwalt, superintendent of schools of San Francisco.

The academic procession formed in the corridors of Jesse Hall and headed by the board of curators and the faculty in cap and gown, marched around Francis quadrangle to the university auditorium. Prof. E. A. McLeod of the School of Fine Arts played the processional. The Rev. Walter M. Haushalter, pastor of the First Christian Church of Columbia, delivered the invocation. The commencement address was made by the Rev. Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, rector of the Memorial Church of St. Paul of Philadelphia.

A vigorous defense of modern youth was made by Dr. Newton. "Most of the ministers of this country should get down on their knees and ask God to forgive them for the naughty things they have said about the present generation," he declared.

"Education is compatible with every quality but stupidity," Dr. Newton continued. "Education can ask the educated to set the standards of the country, for unless the standards are set by these, the country will end in chaos. It rests with every educated man and woman to uphold the highest standards."

PRESBYTERIAN ACCEPTANCE OF A MODERNIST OPPOSED

NEWARK, N. J., June 9.—An examining board of Presbyterian dignitaries, by a vote of 45 to 26, has admitted the Rev. Lester H. Cleo into the Newark Presbytery despite his refusal either to affirm or deny his belief in the virgin birth of Christ.

The Rev. Robert Scott Inglis, leading the opposition, immediately started a petition to the Synod of New Jersey asking that body to rescind the action of the examining board on the ground that the opposition was not allowed to question the Rev. Mr. Cleo on his attitude on the virgin birth and certain miracles set forth in the New Testament. In a printed brief the Rev. Mr. Cleo neither affirmed nor denied belief in the virgin birth.

Law Against Kosher Meat By Radio to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News

OSLO, June 9.—The Storting is expected soon to adopt a law prohibiting the Orthodox Jewish method of slaughtering meat. Agitation toward this end is being conducted by various farmer organizations. Recently representatives of the Storting demanded admission, for personal inspection, when a rabbinical slaughter was being performed. Orthodox Jews are highly incensed and are threatening to leave Norway if the prohibitory measure passes.

RIGID DRY BILL
SIDETRACKED
SENATE LEA

Steering Committee in Preferred List
Placing Agents
Civil Service.

FRENCH DEBT
PLAN OM

Primary Place, After Relief, Given to Lower Railroads fund Debts.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 9.—A session will come before the House prior to adjournment, but its most controversial feature, a Republican steering committee, is not expected.

In mapping out a program, the committee has decided to place more teeth in the Volstead act, though giving place to the raising of the prohibition of the customs service to the of bureau and to bring about agents under civil regulations.

Threats to call up a tracked bill were heard, however, among ardent drys and wet head, with a declaration to fight it out, with all referendum on prohibition vote on their modification as their objectives.

This was the situation caused the steering committee to leave the bill out of its order of business. The French bill, which is the subject of the bill, is called up, the Senate is able to adjourn for a week, and the program working out the program make adjournment possible at the end of June.

Debt Settlement Sifted. Another item likely to a long fight, the French bill, has no place on the committee's preferential program, and some of its leaders held that, since the French bill is probably still delayed, the prospect of action, Senate before adjournment.

Primary preference on the committee's program was given to permit certain railroads to refund their debts to the government. This measure will be immediately introduced in the Senate, and is expected to pass, which has been before the House. After the railroad bill, the committee ranged to the independent commission, prohibition bureau and vice measures.

The civil service program discussed for several hours last night, but it is adjourned at 11 p. m. in consideration without action. It was reported by Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, Bingham of Connecticut and Norcross of South Dakota, and supported by Senator Broussard of Louisiana.

How Evidence Was Offered. Reed said the measure would be introduced in the House. He said the measure would be introduced in the House. He said the measure would be introduced in the House.

Through an arrangement, a telephone central operator, Baird, obtained conversations between the two men and whiskey king, Al Capone, and some information caused him to believe that the two men were in contact. This would not have been the case, he said, if the two men were in contact.

Senator Reed said that the measure would be introduced in the House. He said the measure would be introduced in the House. He said the measure would be introduced in the House.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Break the Terminal Monopoly.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHY all this wrangling about exchange of bridges? Why exchange bridges and give the terminal monopoly in St. Louis forever? Why not build the southern approach as was voted by the citizens in the last bond issue election?

I would offer as a suggestion that the roads wishing to enter via Free Bridge purchase the Bevo Building on South Broadway for station purposes. This building already has 19 tracks built beneath same and has ample switching facilities, and loading platform could be obtained at a small cost as well as accommodation for express offices, etc. This building could be converted into an excellent railroad depot, hotel and roofed off at less cost than the $110,000 which the railroad contemplates spending to remodel and enlarge the present Union Station and will give us two stations instead of one and will give all railroads an even break.

The block bounded by Broadway, Wyomington, Seventh and Arsenal streets could be converted into a plaza or recreation grounds and would make an excellent addition to our Lyon Park. Then if we want to improve our river front we will have ample opportunity to do so.

I surely cannot understand why the business men and taxpayers of St. Louis will permit the terminal to try to put one over on them. Are we all asleep? It is time we are taking a hand. First, we vote for a free bridge to lift the terminal monopoly, then we get the free bridge and are asked to exchange same giving the terminal back the monopoly on bridges. Let us keep our bridge and convert same into the use for which it was intended and the use for which we voted.

May Will Return.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YOUR tender farewell "To Her Who Is Dying" was beautiful and touched a responsive chord in many hearts. Involuntarily my answer comes to your "Good Bye" in its worth while.

Response to the editorial "To Her Who Is Dying":

She is not dead! dear beautiful May! Gone for awhile, but the promise is she will return to us.

Only a memory she is this day in June! A bloom of memory of bloom and beauty. A memory we hold close to our hearts when winter snows have buried deep each vestige of her sweet warm life—but we will not forget how all the hills were lighted by her presence, how streams broke forth in melody at her coming, or how the starlit night whispered to her a tender lullaby.

We will await her coming though we say good-bye. We will walk through rose paths of June, stand desolate amid the falling leaves of autumn, or look out upon the still white, world clad in garments of snow, waiting—waiting the Spirit of Spring to light gray skies with her smile and lift the flowers to greet the sun. She will come back and in her coming you will forget you ever said good-bye.

It is God's lesson meant for us, for He who holds Time's cycles in his hand has written immortality upon our souls.

MARIA TAYLOR MCKIN.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HOW lowly were those beautiful and sacred sentiments of motherhood exemplified by the wife of President Coolidge as was pictured in the Post-Dispatch Magazine, June 7. The responsive testimony of a woman's love was demonstrated as she grasped the hands of disabled soldiers who served their country. That picture appealed to me and aroused in me a greater admiration and esteem for our President's wife. For no doubt some of those valiant men had no mother to bestow upon them her love and affection in their sad plight.

Smoking on Busses.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN reply to your editorial of June 7 quoting a "Suffering Citizen" who gets smoke and sits in his eye, let me say, why don't said citizen lie below, where smoking is not permitted.

This old male smoker is like the rest of the women who always rush for the last three seats in a street car, and then kick because a man smokes.

One remedy is let the bus company run every other bus as a smoker, and let these old fellows take the bus which does not permit smokers, but carries only perfume, paint and powder. Or, as the fellow said, Henry Ford made walking a pleasure.

Let us protect the old sister from these bad men who smoke cigars and cigarettes. Although when I was in France with the United States army in 1917-18-19, a cigarette tasted a—good. I wonder if "Suffering Citizen" was there in the mud and slush, at $30 per month. I wonder. As a gentleman and ex-soldier, not a flag waver, I like to give my fellowmen a break. THE COURTS AND THE PEOPLE.

Having indicted the Circuit Attorney and special prosecutor in the Rutherford case and two of the attorneys for Rutherford, with the Circuit Attorney's clerk, on the charge of conspiracy, the late grand jury fairly cleaned up the investigation of that case. The work, under the direction of Attorney-General Gentry, was done expeditiously and apparently with thoroughness.

With regard to Judge Mix, who explained his cooperation with the Circuit Attorney in releasing Allen Rutherford under a $500 fine on the ground that he wanted to give Circuit Attorney Sidener rope to hang himself, the jury leaves his case to the Legislature. Warning the Judges that they do not have to accept the recommendation of the Circuit Attorney's office in criminal cases, the jury declared that there were certain aspects of the case which it could not handle through indictment, but which could be dealt with only by the Legislature through impeachment.

The Rutherford case having been practically disposed of, the new grand jury, under the broad instructions of Gov. Baker and the able direction of Attorney-General Gentry, can devote itself to a thorough investigation of the Ferguson and Motlow cases, in which justice was even more completely defeated than in the Rutherford case.

The pending grand jury investigation should make a clean sweep of the administration of justice in St. Louis. It should bring to book everyone to whom the evidence points as guilty, in every case in which there is sufficient evidence. We assume that this will be done.

Wholly apart from the legal procedure directed to the trial of all those charged with corruption or misconduct, the exposure of rottenness in the administration of justice makes clear the responsibility and duty of the people of St. Louis. The greatest reforms in judicial procedure will be of little value unless honest and capable men are elected to office. Men of the right kind will do more to reform the administration of justice than any amount of legislation. The exposure of the failure of the administration of justice comes pat on the approach of the primaries and the elections. What St. Louis needs more than anything else is men of demonstrated capacity and honesty on the bench and in the prosecuting offices.

WHEN THEY MADE KENYON A JUDGE.

When President Harding appointed Senator Kenyon of Iowa to the Federal bench in January, 1922, the Old Guard secretly rejoiced. Kenyon was a disturbing element. Personally likeable, intellectually a "best mind," he nevertheless, had convictions that branded him incompatible. He felt and spoke strongly about the Newberry scandal, even going so far as to say he did not believe he could sit in the same body with the Michigan Commodore. He was also the leader of the farm bloc, which even then was trying to resist. So the laissez-faire crowd bade good-bye to Kenyon with proper esteem and much relief. They were looking for a safer and a whole lot sadder successor.

They got Brookhart. In the place of the rational liberal Kenyon came a Tartar of the reddest dye. During the unexpired term of the Kenyon term Brookhart made his name anathema to the administration. He consummated his treason when, a candidate to succeed himself in 1924, he bolted the Coolidge ticket and proclaimed himself a follower of La Follette. The contest that followed, the decree of ouster, the seating of the Democrat, Stead—all this is too recent history to need reciting. There were forebodings, however, that Brookhart, if unseated, might go back to Iowa and run against Cummings, whose reelection was most earnestly desired.

What was feared has come to pass. Wherefore, the promotion of Kenyon to Federal bench, from the Old Guard standpoint, a bonehead play.

Col. Smith W. Brookhart to Senator Albert B. Cummings: "You know me now, Al."

BRIAND'S HUMANITY.

For a moment yesterday Aristide Briand, Premier of France, forgot the problems of state. The falling franc, loans, debts, taxes, reconstruction in Morocco, foreign affairs—all were swept aside. His eye had caught a newspaper item announcing the sentence of death upon Gilbert Clare, an American member of the French Foreign Legion serving in Damascus. Clare is Bennett Doty of Memphis, Tenn. His offense was desertion. On his own initiative, and disregarding all the red tape of officialdom, Briand sent a message singing over the wires to Damascus preventing the execution. It was good politics. It was also the act of a fine-grained human being, quickly sympathetic for a soldier who earned his spurs in the Thirtieth Division during the World War.

"That's nothing," said the Grand Old Elephant, cautiously shifting his position, as he read about Jack Dempsey having two boils on his arm. "I've got a trunk full of 'em, and then some."

PUBLICITY ITCH A GOOD ITCH.

They suffered from "publicity itch." They wanted to exploit themselves. That was what caused the row in the Tariff Commission.

This was the explanation offered by H. H. Glasie in the Senate inquiry when asked by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania why the members could not "get along together." By "they" he meant the liberal members of the commission, Mr. Costigan, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Culbertson before he was made Minister to Rumania. These men, apparently, thought that the flexible provision of the tariff law meant what it said and that a tariff rate could be lowered when investigation showed it to be too high.

Mr. Glasie may be right about his fellow commissioners having the "publicity itch." And that malady, of course, is fatal to the unobtrusive harmony and quiet effectiveness which Mr. Glasie and the other high protectionists on the board desired.

But, thanks to that "publicity itch," the public now knows how Mr. Coolidge packed the Tariff Commission; the public knows how the President wanted Mr. Lewis' written resignation when tendering him reappointment; the public knows that Mr. Glasie, with the President's approval, would have voted on the question of the duty on sugar, notwithstanding his family's interest in the proceeding, and was stopped only by the intervention of Congress.

There can be no doubt that as a result of this "publicity itch" the people have been informed as to how politics is perverting supposedly judicial bodies into partisan boards.

If submitted to a referendum the public would probably pronounce "publicity itch" a good itch.

A CURB ON OPPRESSION.

Chancellor Hadley, in a letter to the Post-Dispatch in Monday's issue, regrets that "through a mistaken estimate of the importance of a few abuses of authority by Federal Judges" this newspaper opposes the proposal of the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice that our State Judges likewise be empowered to comment on the evidence in criminal cases, which is now forbidden to them.

The Post-Dispatch holds with Jefferson that the institution of trial by jury, "in its pure and original spirit," is the—true tribunal of the people, for mitigation in the execution of hard laws when the power of preventing their passage is lost, and may afford some protection to persecuted man, whether alien or citizen, which the aspect of the times warns we may want.

In times of tranquillity and in the prosecution of ordinary crimes of violence, it must be conceded that, in practice, no great harm would necessarily follow from the power of a Judge fairly to comment on the evidence; but the great guaranties of civil liberty are not erected only against ordinary times, but mainly against times of passion. History shows these constantly recurring periods when Government is an aroused and zealous partisan, at which times it enrolls the judiciary as active allies to put down its opponents. The numberless victims of such a coalition in England in pursuit of Papist or Dissenter, and the recurrence of this violence in the United States to enforce the alien and sedition law, were possible only through the overthrow of trial by jury "in its pure and original spirit." In England, by fining and imprisoning recalcitrant jurors, and, in the United States, through the hand-picking of jurors.

We have only to look about us and consider the bigotry and fanaticism of the times, the astounding audacity and success of small groups of reformers in imposing their views by law on the mass of our people, to realize the danger of increasing the power of our courts, sworn to execute such laws, and diminishing that of juries, standing between the accused and persecution.

In the execution of the Volstead act we already observe the Federal Government as a partisan, influencing the Federal judiciary to carry prejudice and passion upon the bench in the enforcement of this particular law; and it is in just such cases, when word goes out to the Judges that Washington would be better pleased with severe penalties, that trial by jury might stay the hand of vengeance, but that the Federal Government, distrustful of juries, even in its own courts, has largely displaced them by the summary processes of injunction.

The Missouri Association for Criminal Justice has proposed some changes in criminal procedure which the Post-Dispatch feels are highly meritorious, but to empower our Judges to "make such comments on the evidence . . . as, in their opinion, the interests of justice may require," involves the power to pronounce guilt, which no Judge should ever possess in a criminal case.

It was his wife's cigarettes, says Gen. Ludendorff, that wrecked his home. When will the women quit the deadly cigarette and take up the sturdy, honest, good, big, black cigar?

PUTTING BROADWAY TO BED.

Police Commissioner McLaughlin of New York City has announced that the cabarets in the white-light district must be closed at 2 a. m., which, he says, is the hour "when all decent people should be out of such places."

The Police Commissioner knows his cabarets, some of which, he says, are being run by crooks. But will his curfew order put Broadway to bed? He can hardly expect as much. We are developing a large element of night owls, wingless but with soaring mentality, to whom day is a torment only fit for resting up from the greater glories of the post-midnight hours, of which John McCormack sang.

When "It's 3 o'clock in the morning," and the pulse throbs to the music, as eyes that Dame Grundy would close in sleep sparkle and gleam with a life that the staid and solemn-souled can never understand, shall a big-footed gendarme turn the hose of officialdom on the happy throng? Nay, nay! Youth will be served. Close a hundred cabarets, if you will. The gay laughter, the throbbing music, the joie de vivre will break out elsewhere.

Put Broadway to sleep! Impossible.

Old Doc Rutledge will find a congenial companion at Leavenworth in the person of old Doc Cook.

THE COMING OLIVE STREET.

The city government already looks upon the widening of Olive street, from Twelfth boulevard to Channing avenue, as a fact accomplished. Typewritten notices to property owners that the street "has been widened" are being pasted on the old buildings. The owners are informed that unless they remove the buildings on the 40-foot strip on the south side of the street within three months, such buildings will be removed as obstructions by the city.

This is as it should be. The widened Olive street will be but one of a number to be so improved. And yet this change for the better on a long stretch of Olive street will be hailed as one of the most welcome steps towards a newer and greater St. Louis, because, ever since street car tracks were laid on Olive street and the movement of the population west began, it is probable that more people have traveled east and west on this street than on any other in St. Louis. And, while Olive street east of Twelfth has flourished as the center of the city's best retail district, that part of the street, about 29 blocks, between Twelfth and Channing, with some exceptions, has been backward, unattractive and in later years part of the so-called blighted district.

St. Louis greatly needs an extension of its high-class retail streets, in order to prevent further congestion of traffic by retail shoppers. The coming Olive street, widened so that shoppers using either automobiles or street cars will find ample accommodation, offers wonderful inducements to capital to build stores of every variety to meet the growing needs of citizens and visitors. It should be a bright light highway, a delight to the eye and a showplace for the world.

Everybody seems to be hard up in Iowa, bankers as well as farmers, which possibly explains why prohibition is such a success in that State. It takes money to buy this liquor with the pre-war labels.

Archaeologists have found in Yucatan a well-preserved pavement which was built hundreds of years before Columbus discovered America. With very little improvement it could be made to serve now as an automobile highway between two of the Mayan ruins. It will be used for that purpose as soon as the aqueduct, which was the national bird of the Mayas, is supplanted in Yucatan by our own national bird, the Ford.

A writer in the Atlantic Monthly says that by making business respectable we have made ourselves the richest people in the world, but he is not sure that we are not going to find out before very long why it has always been considered something less than respectable. We will see Socrates about it, but are very much afraid he has laid us a stymie.

Notwithstanding the story of the Roman philosopher, who might have remained one had he kept still, there is the testimony of Plutarch, who quotes Spitharus as having said of Epaminondas that he scarce ever met with any man who knew more and spoke less.

The Judge glared at the convicted man and said: "You have had a fair trial and been convicted by a jury of your peers. I sentence you to hard labor reading the Amundsen story—every word of it."

Maybe Lawler Daley is quitting the Democratic City Committee to disprove the impression that he has been holding it down.

Xenophanes said, "I confess myself the weakest coward in the world, for I dare not do an ill thing."

Oddly enough, we never see this sign though it describes a flourishing business about town:

Or this one, which would be true enough:

To say nothing of this:

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to register without bias the latest comment by leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

THE BYRD FAMILY OF VIRGINIA.

From the Hartford Courant.

SOME interesting questions are raised by the brilliant exploit of Lieutenant-Commander Byrd in his flight from Spitzbergen to the North Pole and back. Is it possible that the spirit of adventure and the scientific imagination that made this feat possible are derived in any degree from the explorer's famous ancestor of two years ago, the William Byrd of Westover in Virginia, who took a prominent part in the survey of the Great Dismal Swamp and whose history of that daring enterprise, William Byrd of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, like his descendant, combined interests and equipment of the scientific and those of the explorer, for during the years of training for the law in England he was made a member of the Royal Society for the Advancement of Science. His writings, preserved for a century and a half in a huge homemade volume known as the "Westover Manuscripts" and now available in print, show a wide range of scientific and literary interests. He had an adventurous exploratory mind. As a member of the commission appointed in 1728 to establish the boundary line between Virginia and North Carolina, he did important public work. Throughout his life he maintained the highest ideals of the Virginian aristocrat, but at once a scholar and an adventurer. He was always first of all a gentleman. A few of his diaries such as the Adamses, the Mathews and the Peabodys, are known to have been remarkably true to type throughout their most 200 years in America, and to these may now add the Byrd family of Virginia.

Whether we choose to believe in heredity or that environment chiefly shapes the lives of men does not much matter. There is no doubt that in some degree, in ways still obscure, "blood will tell."

GEORGIA'S CHILD LABOR LAW.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

OPponents of Federal regulation as a means of stopping child labor are justified, in part at least, by the events in Georgia since the proposed constitutional amendment was defeated. Georgia is now pointed out as the most successful of the States in the South in the matter of child labor. The children of the Georgia cotton fields have been held up as human deities against the employers of immature workers. Now Georgia has passed a child labor law as drastic as those in the Northern States. Hereafter no child under 14 years may be employed in any capacity in manufacturing plants. No child under 16 may work in any place or occupation except by the Board of Health to be dangerous to life and limb or injurious to moral health. And these under 13 who were to work in industry must be able to read and write and furnish evidence that they are in good health. The law applies to blacks as well as whites. Agriculture is exempt from its provisions. Thus, without Federal interference of any kind, Georgia voluntarily does what a constitutional amendment was put forward to do. And since the issue is backed by public opinion, there is no fear of any "bootlegging" of child labor there.

SPECIAL JUDICIAL PRIMARIES URGED BY JUDGE WALKER

Supreme Court Justice Also Advises Care in Selecting "Well-Equipped Attorneys" as Prosecutors.

RECEIVES HONORARY DEGREE TODAY

Secretary Davis, Admiral
Coontz, J. M. Gwinn, J.
W. Sanborn and H. L.
Cooper to Be Honored.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
COLUMBIA, Mo., June 9.—Separate primaries for the selection of judicial candidates and the election of "well-equipped attorneys" as prosecutors were recommended by Judge Robert F. Walker of the Missouri Supreme Court in an address before the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri at their annual banquet here last night.

Judge Walker, with Secretary of War Davis, Admiral Robert F.
Coontz, Joseph Marr Gwinn, superintendent of the San Francisco Schools; Jeremiah Wilson Sanborn, agricultural authority of Pittsfield, N. H., and Hugh L.
Cooper, chief engineer of the Mississippi River Power Co., received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the eighty-fourth annual commencement of the university today. Secretary Davis, Judge Walker, Admiral Coontz and Gwinn are native Missourians.

"There is, at this time, a salutary awakening as to the necessity of the enforcement of the law," said Judge Walker. "Much is being said and has been done by a competent commission created by the State Bar Association to recommend such changes in our primary code of procedure as will facilitate and render more certain the trial of criminal cases and the conviction of criminals. I am of the opinion, despite the presence of several antique features of our criminal procedure, that the election of well-equipped lawyers to the office of prosecuting attorney and the prompt trial and conviction, if guilty, of defendants would render many of the proposed changes in the code unnecessary."

Favors Simple Procedure.
"The legal profession, however, whether at the bar or on the bench, who have the wholesome administration of the law at heart, as all honest members of the profession should have, will hail with approval any and all legislative action which may render procedure simpler and justice more easily administered. The education of public opinion along higher levels will, if nothing more, be accomplished by the work of the Commission."

"A crying demand exists for a change in the manner of the selection of candidates for judicial positions. Under the primary system, merit, which should control and which did control under the convention system, is relegated to the rear."

"The result is that any immature lawyer, with limited experience, if active in a personal campaign, may win favor of the electorate and secure a nomination over others of greater ability who from years of experience have become seasoned in the law and thus fitted for the arduous duties of the trial and the Appellate Courts."

"It is reasonable to conclude that the result might be different if the people, as a mass, recognized the fact that in the selection of incompetent candidates for the judiciary they are obstructing the administration of justice and thus rendering less secure life, liberty and property."

For Separate Primaries.
"The abolishing of the primary system is applicable to the selection of judicial candidates may not be feasible," Judge Walker concluded. "The most and the best, therefore, that can be hoped for in the way of reform is the segregation of the primaries for the naming of Judges from that for the selection of other candidates. This accomplished and public attention centered at the time upon a single object, more opportunity may be afforded the average voter for the reflective exercise of his reason in the selection of Judges."

INSURANCE GIFT MADE BY GRADUATES

St. Louis U. Gets Pledge of Endowment Policies —
Other Commencements.

Graduation exercises in several educational institutions in St. Louis and vicinity continued last night and today. An insurance endowment, presented to St. Louis University by the graduating class of the University's School of Commerce and Finance, was announced last night at the fourteenth annual banquet of the school at Hotel Chase. About 400 faculty members, alumni and students attended.

Virtually every member of the graduating class has pledged a 15-year endowment policy and a permanent Trust Committee has been established to care for payments and disbursements. The gift sets a precedent that is expected to be followed by succeeding classes.

Cash Value of Education.
Based on a working period of 40 years a high school education is worth $72,000 and a college education is worth $150,000 to the student, it was estimated by the Rev. John T. Thomson, pastor of St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church, in an address last night to the 19 members of the graduating class of the high school department of Christian Brothers College.

Closing exercises at John Burroughs School on the Price road, St. Louis County, will be held at 7 p. m. today. Winners of honors and awards at the school were announced yesterday.

Girl Wins Scholarship.
Annual class day of the senior class at St. Joseph's Academy at Fontbonne College, Wydown boulevard and Pennsylvania avenue, was held yesterday when class honors were conferred on honor members.

Miss Florence Noble won the scholarship to Fontbonne College. Diplomas were presented to 15 girls at graduation exercises yesterday at Ursuline Academy at Alton. Twenty-eight students will receive diplomas at the nineteenth annual commencement June 17 at Shurtleff College, Alton.

"Hidden Leaves" annual publication of Lindenwood College, St. Charles, gives a prominent place to centennial year at the college, which will be observed in the 1929-30 school year.

Announcement was made today that a contract has been awarded for construction of a new St. Henry's College, to be conducted by the Oblate Fathers, in Belleville. The college, which will cost $50,000, will be an addition to the present mission and retreat house. It is expected to be completed by September.

MRS. MARY A. O'NEIL LEFT ESTATE VALUED AT $300,000
$270,000 of it consists of Personal Property and Residue of Linderell Boulevard Residence.

Mrs. Mary A. O'Neil, who died May 2, left an estate valued at $300,123.57, as shown by an inventory filed yesterday in Probate Court.

Of this, $270,283.47 consists of the value of personal property and the remainder is the appraised value of the residence at 4507 Linderell boulevard. Mrs. O'Neil also owned realty at Los Angeles, Cal., the value of which is not stated. Included in the personal property is $200,000 of the stock of the Peter A. O'Neil Estate Co.

In her will Mrs. O'Neil left the bulk of her estate in trust of the Mercantile Trust Co. for the benefit of a son, James P. O'Neil, and daughter, Mrs. William B. Logan. The will shows that Mrs. O'Neil created a separate trust fund for Marjorie Stuart Nolke, her granddaughter by adoption. Mrs. O'Neil was the widow of Peter A. O'Neil, who at one time was proprietor of a restaurant at Union Station.

SHERIFF'S SENTENCED DELAYED
Peter Hoffman and Aid at Chicago Were to Enter Jail Today.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 9.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today delayed until Saturday issuance of mandates to send to jail Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman and his former warden, Wesley Westbrook, pending appeal by them to the United States Supreme Court.

They are under jail sentences for contempt of court in connection with the county jail scandal here. Perry Druggan and Frankie Lake, wealthy brewers, were enjoying freedom on many occasions during the period they were supposed to be serving a Federal sentence for contempt for violation of a prohibition injunction. The Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday had ordered the mandates issued today. Hoffman is under a sentence of 30 days in jail and a fine of $2500, and Westbrook is under sentence of four months in jail.

He is a graduate of the University of Kansas, and has served as president of Edward Waters College in Florida, and of Wilberforce University in Ohio.

ORDER AGAINST SHOE FIRM HERE TO AWAIT COURT RULINGS
Three Cases Similar to International Company Controversy Pending in U. S. Supreme Court. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Enforcement of the Federal Trade Commission's order against the International Shoe Co. of St. Louis to divest itself of the capital stock of the McElwain Shoe Co., a former chief competitor, which was suspended last week, will depend upon the decision of the United States Supreme Court in three similar cases appealed from the lower courts.

These cases, set for the October term, involve the Thatcher Mfg. Co. of Elmira, N. Y., makers of milk bottles; the Western Meat Co. of San Francisco, and Swift & Co. of Chicago.

Acquisition of competing concerns in violation of the Clayton antitrust act is the point at issue. The first question to be settled by the Supreme Court is whether the Federal Trade Commission can order a corporation to divest itself of the physical properties and good will of the acquired company, as well as the stock.

The meaning of the phrase "substantially lessening competition" also is involved. The commission's orders are based on the assumption, disputed by the corporations, that competition was substantially lessened in each case by the acquisition of competing companies.

Counsel for the commission have won favorable decisions in the Circuit Court of Appeals in the Thatcher and Swift cases, but lost in the Western Meat Co. case.

Charles, gives a prominent place to centennial year at the college, which will be observed in the 1929-30 school year.

Trapped by a human wolf—

WHEN Margy met and fell in love with Eldon Keith at college, and he returned her love, she prided herself that she had captured the best looking, best dressed, most popular young man on the campus.

The hours she spent with him romping through the woods and climbing the hills near the college were the happiest she had ever known.

What she did not know was that Eldon Keith was very wise, very shrewd, regarding the ways of women—and that he was a past-master of every move in the game of hearts.

Had she been informed about life and the ways of men, she might have suspected that something was wrong when he insisted that they leave college and marry at once.

Had she listened to the wise counsel of her parents and those who really loved her — Margy would have made sure that the man who proposed marriage was all he represented himself to be.

But, unhappily, that was not Margy's way. Careless of the fact that she really knew nothing about Eldon Keith — swept off her feet by his tempestuous love-making — little dreaming of what lay ahead — she deafened her ears to the pleadings of her parents, yielded to the luring picture of happiness painted by her sweetheart — and one night they quietly slipped away — on the road, as she believed, to an Eden of Romance.

But as Margy looks back now on the tragic consequences of her folly, her soul is stirred with a kind of helpless fury. She wants to cry out a warning to girls and their parents everywhere.

"Why," she says, "are girls not properly warned of the traps and pitfalls of life? Why are they not told about the wiles and lairs of the wolf? Can knowledge defile, and ignorance keep them pure?"

It is because she believes that forewarned is forearmed, that she has written her story, "The Lair of the Wolf," which appears complete in True Story Magazine for July. She wants every girl to read it. She wants all parents to read it. Don't miss this gripping, heart-throbbing feature in True Story for July.

Other Thrilling True-Life Narratives in the July True Story are:

"Buried in the Heart"—Doreen knew that Gordon Stuart was married. He had told her so frankly. But there was something about him that she found impossible to resist. So, without a thought of wrong-doing, she permitted his admiring glances, his compliments, and finally his many attentions—until one day she suddenly awoke with a shock to the fact that things had gone too far—that she had become immeshed in a terrible situation from which there was no escape. No girl who wants to know the truth about life should fail to read Doreen's startling story.

"Repent at Leisure"—A whirlwind romance—a sudden and secret marriage! It sounds very exciting—or so Nora thought when Victor Lawson held her in his arms and thrilled her with avowals of love such as had not come to her even in her most romantic dreams. And because she knew no better, she listened and consented—but when she learned the reason of his plea for secrecy—repentance came too late. A true story that will wring your heart with the bitter pathos of it.

"The Letter and the Rose"—What would you do if you found a love letter from a strange woman addressed to your husband? That is what happened to the girl who writes this story. After the first shock of surprise, anger and despair—there grew in her heart a plan of revenge—but with consequences that she had little dreamed. Don't be too sure that it pays to try to "get even," until you have read this gripping, heart-throbbing narrative.

Prominent Minister Praises True Story Magazine

Macfadden Publications, Inc.,
1926 Broadway, N. Y. City
Gentlemen:

As the father of ten fine healthy children that are fully alive to everything about them, and, as a minister of the Gospel and, previously a practicing physician, I believe my experience of more than thirty-five years of close contact with the human race capacitates me to pass a conservative verdict, both on the conduct of men and the cleanliness of the public press and their dynamic power in the lives of others.

Macfadden (to me) is a trade-mark of cleanliness and wholesomeness in life and literature. I have read much of his publications and have found the sunshine of life in them all.

An advisory board consisting of reputable ministers is a wise and happy combination with any publication and, with the Macfadden name, I feel doubly sure that nothing will appear in the pages of "True Story" magazine that could bring a blush to the most innocent maiden's cheek, other than the rosy tint of pleasure, or the thoughtful expression of true and needful informing light concerning the way of life.

Let the young men and women of this generation read the Gospel of life, with its pitfalls and tragedies; then point out the right way and they will turn to the right every time, unless mentally diseased.

Without the slightest hesitation or mental reservation I am delighted with the privilege of recommending the "True Story" magazine to parents — It's moral tone is magnificent.

Sincerely yours,

Henry F. Summers, M. D. Th. D.

"From underneath the mattress of the bed, they produced a remarkable collection of jewelry; strings of beads, rings, several watches. I was arrested and carried off to jail, protesting my innocence and lack of all knowledge of the things found."

Stories That Build Character

MEHLHORN TIED FOR LEAD IN BRITISH GOLF EVENT

BILL SHOOT 75 FOR 146 TOTAL FOR 36 HOLES

Joe Kirkwood, Emmet French and Cyril Walker are five strokes behind the leaders—Walter Hagen has 156.

LIVERPOOL, June 9.—Bill Mehlhorn, American professional, was tied with James Adwick of Oxford this afternoon for the lead in the British Northern Professional Golf tournament. Each had 146 for the 36 holes played.

AMERICANS' SCORES FOR 36 HOLES

Joe Kirkwood	35	40-75-151
Joe Stein	38	38-77-159
Tommy Armour	38	40-78-155
Emmet French	34	37-77-151
Bill Mehlhorn	37	38-77-146
Cyril Walker	40	37-77-151
Walter Hagen	39	35-74-156
Al Watrous	39	43-82-158
Jim Barnes	37	38-75-148

Aggregate of 151 and Joe Kirkwood's 75 for a like aggregate were welcome features of the American entrants' play.

French, professional for the Southern Pines Country Club, went out in 37 but surpassed himself by coming in two under fours, with only one five—this on the 464-yard seventeenth—to mark the succession of threes and fours.

He might have made it an even 70 to equal the course record, except for his unaccountable miss of a two-foot putt for a three on the thirteenth. On the outward round he took a six on the long third, due to over-clubbing and then missing a short putt.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Stalling.

DESPITE suspensions and disbarments, fighters continue to loaf on the job, when boxing for anything but championship fees.

Monday night suspensions followed two such contests.

Referees here and there throw men out of the ring and commissions hold up the purses. But the temptation to STAGE A bout, instead of FIGHTING it, causes many stalling affairs.

While today there seem to be fewer matches in which one athlete agrees to do a nose dive for the benefit of the other, as Fred Fulton did for Tony Fuente, as was proved in court, there is an increase in clubby interchanges between friendly enemies who are out to acquire easy money with the least amount of cauliflowering to the ear.

Referees know more about it than others. Courageous officials can prevent it, if they know their business.

Making Them Stop.

IN St. Louis today a certain widely known referee who has officiated from one end of this country to another, is a visitor. He is newly from California, where he says, the game is hanging by a blind hair due to over-promotion and too lax officiating.

"California will have to stiffen up its handling of boxing if the game is to last there. A certain amount of bad fighting is done everywhere. It is hard to stamp out. But it can be stopped," said this referee to the writer.

"In one coast match in which I officiated a certain heavy-weight fighter who has been mentioned prominently as a title candidate, was meeting an opponent he outclassed.

"I warned the title aspirant once, but was laughed at. The crowd, too, did not seem to think I was warning the right man. The manager complained that his protegee's hand was bad and that he was afraid to use it. He sure missed his right crosses as though he was afraid of something.

"All right, Bill," I said. "It isn't his hand, it's his eyesight. If your man doesn't hit where he aims with his right hand, in the next round, there'll be no purse for you to get a percentage of."

"His fighter knocked out his opponent in the next session.

Purse Held Up Here.

A NOTHER well-known middleweight who, by the way, had his purse held up by the St. Louis commission a few years ago, was waiting around with another clever foe, they were putting on a dazzling display of slapstick stuff, but getting nowhere.

"I warned them and warned them, but they merely grinned and kept going. They were doing it so cleverly that the crowd was not displeased. I didn't interfere, then.

"With 30 seconds of the last round to go, the joke of the situation became too much for one of them. He guessed my feelings. He began to kid me.

"As the end of the round approached he said in an undertone to me: 'Well, you big boob, we put it over on you anyhow, didn't we?'

"Not yet," I told him and stopped the fight with 15 seconds to go. The commission on my recommendation refused to pay the purses and the fighters got nothing.

"I think it cured them both of stalling."

HARRIS COGGESHALL TO TEAM WITH BROWN IN VALLEY TENNIS

Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, (Ia.), sensational young tennis player, who is ranked as second among national junior tennis players, will be a participant in the twenty-fifth annual tournament of the Missouri Valley Tennis Association at Kansas City next week, association headquarters officials announced here last night. Coggeshall reached the finals in the national junior championship at Chicago last year, being defeated by Cranston Holman of California. Coggeshall will be paired with Wray Brown in the doubles at Kansas City, and this team is expected to vie for interest with that of Champion Hilden and "Junior" Coen of Kansas City.

Another entrant will be Joe Van Ginkel, former Northwest Iowa champion, and Frank Brody, a leading Des Moines junior.

The BILLIONAREA

the GREATER ST. LOUIS MARKET

The BILLIONAREA is more than a market name. It is a market condition. In addition to its unusual prosperity and growth, Greater St. Louis offers advertisers an annual purchasing power of over a BILLION dollars—one of the highest average purchasing powers per family of any city in America.

Radio advertising is an example of the dominance of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in selling any and all products in The BILLIONAREA. With four daily newspapers published in St. Louis, the Post-Dispatch, in 1925, carried more local and national radio advertising than all other St. Louis newspapers combined and more than twice as much as the second newspaper.

One of America's Best Market "Buys"

NATIONAL advertisers are discovering in The Billionarea an exceptionally prosperous and responsive market for goods of all kinds.

Three circumstances combine to make this true.

1. The Billionarea is one of six markets buying goods at a rate of more than a billion dollars annually—a major factor to any firm interested in greater sales volume.
2. It is a metropolitan area with so high an average purchasing power per family that it stands practically in a class by itself.
3. Most important of all to the advertiser—this big market, with its unusually prosperous condition, can be more completely covered, at a lower advertising cost, than any other major metropolitan area.

A study of the facts by any national advertiser will inevitably lead to special advertising effort in The Billionarea, and just as inevitably, to the choice of the one newspaper which completely covers that market at one low cost.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reaches practically every family of purchasing consequence in the entire area—40,000 more such families than any other St. Louis newspaper.

In sales opportunity and advertising economy, few markets in America today equal that of The Billionarea—Greater St. Louis.

Both these books sent free to anyone interested in advertising in The BILLIONAREA

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

The highest ranking P+D+C newspaper of The BILLIONAREA—the Greater St. Louis Market

The P+D+C Rating is the advertiser's micrometer for measuring both market and media.

"P" is population—people, families, the number of purchasing units. "D" is dollars—wealth production or per capita buying power. "C" is coverage or concentrated circulation—the ability of a medium to saturate its market with circulation assuring effectiveness in moving goods in volume.

The BILLIONAREA and the Post-Dispatch stand so high on these three counts as to offer advertisers the greatest P+D+C selling and advertising opportunity in America, with one exception.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reaches far more people, far more dollars and has far greater coverage of The BILLIONAREA than any other newspaper. The fact that both local and national advertisers recognize the Post-Dispatch as the most powerful selling force in the greater St. Louis Market, is proved by its volume of advertising, almost equal to that of all other St. Louis newspapers combined.

The P+D+C Manual and the Book of Information about The BILLIONAREA—the Greater St. Louis Market, will be mailed free to anyone interested in the advertising and sales opportunity of this market.

DOES SUMMER FIND YOU FEELING MISERABLE?

Winter, You Know, Is Apt to Be Mighty Hard on the Entire System—One Eats Heavier Food, Takes Less Exercise and It's Little Wonder That the Digestive Organs Weaken and Allow Body Poisons to Accumulate, Which Upsets the Blood Stomach and Nerves.

That's Why Summer Is Apt to Find So Many Folks Feeling Tired and Worn Out, Miserable with Constant Pains, Headaches and Dizziness. Don't Risk Neglect. Help Your Weakened System with that Great Herbal Preparation, Known as Herb Juice, Which Is Nature's Own Remedy, Extracted from a Combination of Medicinal Roots, Herbs, Barks and Berries Which Act Directly on the Liver, Thereby Cleansing the Body of Poisons That Have Accumulated During the Winter Months, Which Strengthens the Nerves and Tones Up the Entire System. This Great Herbal Remedy, Known as Herb Juice, Has Helped Thousands. Scores of St. Louis Folks Recommend It; Ask Them.

IT'S GREAT AND I RECOMMEND IT

Says Bloomfield Man After He Had Taken the Great Herb Extract Remedy Known as Herb Juice and Was Relieved of Constipation and Run-Down Condition.

"I just think your Herb Juice is great and it gives me pleasure to be able to make a public statement in its behalf, because I feel that I am at least doing something for humanity in return for the wonderful things Herb Juice has done for me. After you have once tried Herb Juice you will not be without it," said Mr. W. W. Byrne, who resides in Bloomfield, Mo., in a recent conversation with the special demonstrator at Walgreen's drug store. "Indigestion and constipation have been my two worst enemies for some time," continued Mr. Byrne, "and I have had a long, hard battle with them, but I am very much pleased to say that with the aid of Herb Juice I am the victor. What little food I did eat didn't do me much good, because it would not stay on my stomach long enough. The pit of my stomach felt as if it had a large rock inside and I was badly bloated. I was always constipated and was continually taking something for this condition. I was never able to sleep very well at night, and I had come to the place where I just had to have some relief. I saw your Herb Juice advertised in the daily papers and thought it would at least do no harm to try it. And I am now very glad indeed that I did, because it has certainly put new life into me. I now eat anything I desire without the slightest bit of trouble afterward. My constipation has been entirely relieved and in fact I feel better than I have for a long time. I go to bed now and sleep wonderfully well and get up in the mornings feeling great. I just think Herb Juice is the greatest remedy on the market today for ailments such as I suffered from. It is worthy of the highest praise and I shall be glad of the opportunity to speak a good word for it everywhere I go."

MR. C. D. BEIDELMAN

"I wanted to tell everybody how good Herb Juice is," continued Mr. Beidelman, "and I thought the best way to do it was to make a public statement. I feel that I owe this statement to Herb Juice and to those suffering as I did. I had a very bad case of constipation and everything I ate seemed to disagree with me, too, and after meals gas would form on my stomach. I was just run down generally and this made me nervous and I was unable to sleep at night. I never had much of an appetite and had lost 20 pounds in such a short time that I felt that I must find something that would rid me of these ailments. I can't begin to tell you how glad I was when I found Herb Juice, because it is just the thing I needed, and it has certainly done its work well. I am in better condition today than I have been for years and just feel like an entirely different man. I now have a splendid appetite and eat anything without the fear of gas afterward. I am entirely rid of my constipation, and my general condition is splendid. I am not nervous as I was before I used your Herb Juice and go to bed now and get the proper amount of rest. I have only taken one bottle of your Herb Juice and I feel like a new man. I have taken every kind of medicine under the sun, I guess, but I have never found the equal of Herb Juice. I have suffered from the above-mentioned ailments for years and it has given me the only relief I have ever had. I want to say again that it is the best medicine on earth for these ailments and you can always depend on me as an Herb Juice booster and I shall always be glad to speak a good word for it."

This great laxative medicine is an Herb Extract preparation, known as Herb Juice and is outstandingly effective where it has been introduced. Many are calling daily to see the special demonstrator at Walgreen Drug Company, 214 Washington avenue, giving statements for publication, praising this great remedy that their friends may be induced to try it.

WARRANTS REFUSED IN TWO MORE CASES

Police Think Evidence Justified Their Issuance and Prosecution.

Chief of Police Gerk today complained of the refusal of two criminal warrants by Miss Florence Weigel, Assistant Circuit Attorney, in two cases in which he thought the evidence justified the issuance of warrants and prosecution.

One was the case of an 18-year-old youth arrested Sunday in an automobile stolen from Grover C. Sparks of Springfield, Ill. Miss Weigel refused the warrant, police-men reported, stating that the Circuit Attorney's office had no funds to pay Norris fare to St. Louis for prosecution of the case and warning him that he would have to make six or eight trips to St. Louis at his own expense.

The other warrant refused was in the case of Arthur D. Derby, 33, of 2557 Shenandoah avenue, a Terminal Railroad foreman, arrested in a saloon at 4042 Olive street, when police were called Saturday to quell a disturbance. Derby was boisterous and had a revolver in his pocket, they reported. Miss Weigel refused a warrant charging carrying concealed weapons and told the arresting officer, they reported, "You'd better tell him if he wants to carry a gun to get a watchman's license."

Miss Weigel today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she had used her "best judgment" in both cases. She said Norris, a mail carrier, could not afford to spend time and money coming to St. Louis and apparently was an unwilling prosecuting witness. The Circuit Attorney's contingent fund for bringing defendants and witnesses here and for other purposes is only $2000 a year, and discretion must be exercised in spending it, she said.

As to Derby, Miss Weigel said it was shown that he was a working man, had not been arrested before and used the revolver at work. Therefore, she refused a warrant, but suggested to the police that they advise Derby to get a watchman's license.

FOR FIRST TIME IN 27 YEARS JOHN M. SHEA IS NOT ON DUTY

Police Lieutenant's Illness Breaks Perfect Record of Daily Service Since 1899.

A perfect record of uninterrupted daily service in the Police Department for 27 years, was shattered May 31 when Lieut. John M. Shea, superintendent of the police Berillon department, caught cold. Since then he has been ill at his home, 2810 Cass avenue.

Shea joined the force in 1899 and has been on duty every day, waiving the two days off each month to which he is entitled. When he reported sick May 31 a 60-day leave of absence was granted him.

Shea is nationally known as an identification expert and has frequently demonstrated a talent for recognizing criminals from photographs he saw many years ago. When taken ill he had begun a reorganization of the St. Louis fingerprint system in accord with the standard index system of the National Bureau of Identification, which is being adopted by metropolitan departments throughout the country. The new system requires less work and space than the old. There are 150,000 prints in the local files and the reorganization will take about three months.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 9.—Willie (Wash) Martin, Negro, convicted of murdering Mrs. Lena Blevins, was electrocuted at the Arkansas State penitentiary at sunset today. Mrs. Blevins' father and other members of her family were present as witnesses. Albert Jones, Negro, convicted of murdering a Negro woman also was electrocuted. Martin, after being strapped in the chair, admitted killing Mrs. Blevins, but denied knowledge of death of several other women of which he was suspected.

Chloroform Robber Flees Again.

JOLIET, Ill., June 9.—Clarence Brown, 41 years old, the State's "freak convict," who robs homes and chloroforms his victims, has escaped for the third time and by a queer trick. On the way to the honor farm with other convicts, he crawled into a hedge fence and remained hidden until a freight train passed, which he boarded for Chicago. Brown has spent more

NEARLY DIED ON BIRTHDAY

"On my last birthday, eight months ago, I had another close call. We had just finished dinner. My stomach began to hurt me. A minute later I lay unconscious. Three doctors worked on me. I was soaked with a cold sweat when I came to. The next week, telling a friend about it and he advised trying MAYB's since taking a course of your medicine I have been able to do anything. I have no more pains or bloating and am feeling better than for ten years." The Lutheran Church—Not Luther's Church

The Lutheran Church is not built on the teachings of Martin Luther, but upon the teachings of God as revealed in the Bible. Luther did not found or create a new religion but restored its purity the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Luther annunciated no new doctrine teaching but stressed the old Bible truths, especially the supremacy and authority of the Scriptures and justification by faith.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

That evening Martin's face wore an almost rapt look as he sat planning smooth a board that was to be a shelf for Amelie's preserves. Caleb had come in after a tour of the fields. He hung his lantern on the wall, shaking it first to see whether it needed oil. Finding that it did, he handed it to Amelie to fill.

"Goin' to be a bumper crop if it keeps up like this, Martin," he remarked, ignoring Judith and Amelie, who were washing the parts of the separator.

"How's the wagon shed comin'?" he asked pleasantly, sitting down to take off his heavy boots. He had asked Martin the same question during supper, but it was the first subject that occurred to him which would obliquely shut the women out of the conversation. It was not exactly to show an interest in Martin's work that he asked it.

"Pretty good," Martin told him. The thing that was on his mind gathered courage for utterance when he heard Caleb speak optimistically of the crops.

Slowly shaving at the wood, he said, "I was thinkin' we might build next spring if we have a good harvest."

Judith and Amelie half turned to hear what he was saying. Caleb saw their looks of interest.

"Yeah, the barn does look as if it was saggin' in the middle," he said softly, moving into the other room.

Martin and Judith and Amelie exchanged involuntary glances.

"Hm," said Judith. "Then we'll live in the barn, Martin."

Amelie said nothing, although she saw that Martin felt the rebuff keenly.

But Martin was a bolder born, and the dream reared itself in his mind and would not down. He resolved to approach Caleb when the women were not around. He would wait until he saw the end of the summer brought. Even if the crops failed the cattle should bring something, and Caleb was keeping far too many horses in pasture now. He could well afford to build in the spring.

As it happened, the next day was a "church" day, and Caleb at the Yellow Post service was invited to dinner at Thorvaldson's. He drove back home with Thorvald and told Amelie that he was going on west and would not be back until Mark. In the afternoon Judith and the teacher, with Amelie's deliberate sanction, took two of the horses and rode to the Sandbo's.

Lind felt excitedly happy. "Judie," she said, "Have you sold your mother about Sven?"

"No," she replied. "Sven would only worry. And he would find out, and then it would be all over."

"Why all over?"

"He would kill me rather than let me marry Sven, or anybody. He knows that would mean a change on the farm. He'd have to get a man—he couldn't save so much money—it would start Ellen and Martin and Charlie wanting to go away."

"But, Judie—you can't stay here forever?"

"Oh, yes, you can. We can stay here until Ellen goes blind and I go crazy and the others die. That's the way people live up here. But I'm not goin' to stick. Wait until the haying is over."

They rode along in silence then, the afternoon warm upon them. Lind glanced down at the drying pools that lined the road and saw the countless "lucky bugs" darting about on the water like crazy sparks of light. The reeds stood up straight and brittle. It must rain soon. Lind could not bear the dry dust on the reeds. Then she suddenly realized that it was not the reeds that she was thinking of, but the Gares.

At the Sandbo's, Sven joined them eagerly. He came running up the road when he saw them and caught hold of the pommel of Judith's saddle. He would have kissed her, but she drew back and looked at Lind.

"We're goin' over to Klovacz's. Come along?" Jude asked him casually. He lifted his healthy, eager face to her and she thrilled through and through at the sight of him again.

"You bet I will! I talked with Jordan one day on the road. He's not a bad sort, for a city guy." Sven commented generously. "I'll be along. Comin' in to talk to ma?"

Mrs. Sandbo and the girls came out to the road and Lind and Judith dismounted while Sven got his own horse out.

Mrs. Sandbo, who had not talked with Judith Gares for some time, eyed her inquisitively. She congratulated herself upon getting a look at one of the Gares again at such close range. Jude did not yet have her new shoes, she noticed. Emma, who had seen her one way near the schoolhouse, had reported that her toes were sticking out. It was almost true. And her dress! What a faded calico it was for a Sunday! Mrs. Sandbo would have a choice bit of news for Dora. What a man Caleb Gares was! What a father! Ludwig had had his faults, but he had not been stingy—a spender, in fact.

"Your mother, then—how goes it?" she asked. Mrs. Sandbo asked Judith, "She had so bad toothache last I see her."

Lind forebore from smiling. Mrs. Sandbo always seemed intent on learning the latest concerning Mrs. Gares' teeth.

"She's well, thank you," Jude said stiffly. The fretting gaze of Mrs. Sandbo and her plump young daughters in their pink lawn dresses did not please her. She wished Sven would hurry.

It was with them at last and they took leave of Mrs. Sandbo and Emma and Dena. Sven was full of talk about the improvements he had made on the place since he came home.

"Can't stand having nothing to do," he told them. "Farming is my idea of nothing to do, on a place like ours, anyway. Had a real job in town—brick layin'. Good money. I'll just get ma to sell the place and go back soon's the summer's over."

They rode gaily over the miles to the Klovacz's.

Judith scarcely looked at Sven in the presence of Lind, but when the teacher rode ahead to announce their coming to Mark Jordan, she leaned over in her saddle and kissed him quickly.

Mark laughed with boyish pleasure when Lind swung the screen door of the kitchen open and walked in upon him. He was stretched out upon a couch in the sitting room, reading a magazine which had come from the city. He sprang up and lifted Lind by her elbows. She disengaged herself demurely.

"I've brought Paul and Virginia," she smiled. "May they come in?" Mark went out with her and beheld the two jumping easily off their horses. "What a pair they make, eh?" he murmured. Lind nodded.

Jude shook hands a little bashfully with Mark when Lind introduced them. It was not long before Mark's good humor put them both at their ease. They all went into the house, Judith glancing about the kitchen a little fearfully as if she expected it to fall upon her, so unused was she to being in other people's houses.

They sat about in the sitting-room for a short time listening to Mark's phonograph. Judith had heard one in the home of an uncle, but it had had a horn and had not produce the alluring music that she listened to now. Her eyes grew dark and absent as she listened to the strains of a waltz.

The melody of a popular song as though it had been a symphony concert that had lodged in her heart. And then, waking, she found Amelie, Ellen, Martin and Charlie going about in the same dumb way, weeding the garden, tending mares in foal, carrying water, leading horses to the trough, searching the sky for rain. And above all, reporting to Caleb Gares by their wordless code the fact that all was serene over the land he owned.

Observing the increasing confidence with which Caleb conducted affairs on the farm, and the meek resignation of the others, Judith began to fear that there was a sinister passive influence in the soil tending her to it and foot even while she was planning to escape. Sven, on the two occasions when she had seen him during her circling of the north pasture after the cattle, had urged her to speak to her mother of their plan to be married. But Judith had put off doing so, hoping that some change in Caleb's running of the farm would make it easier for Amelie to look kindly upon the announcement.

To Be Continued.

"Yes—with the cattle," Ellen fretted. "But I wouldn't sneak around getting fun. What if he had found out where she was yesterday? What if he hears about it somehow? Jude is getting more and more selfish every day. She doesn't care about any of the rest of us. She doesn't give a pin for anybody but herself."

"Now, Ellen," Amelie said conciliatorily. "Don't take on. There's no deceiving about it. Jude and the teacher just went over to cook supper for that poor young man who's living all alone there. There can't be anything so wrong in that, can there?"

"Hm," sniffed Ellen. "You'd think he was some relation or something! There's enough bachelors living alone on homesteads around here to keep Jude busy all week at that rate."

Amelie smiled and turned the doughnuts over in her pan with a fork. Ellen, out of her high tower of self-righteousness, if she learned the truth, would be the first to condemn her mother.

The days were growing longer and more full. Caleb was sending cream and some butter to the Siding again, and there was the separating and the churning to be done. The garden cost Amelie an end of work and worry; she tended the delicate tomato vines as though they were new born infants, and suffered momentary sinking of the heart whenever she detected signs of weakness in any of the harder vegetables. She was grateful for the toll in which she could dwell as a sort of refuge from deeper thought. Caleb spent much time away from the farm dealing with breeders and horse traders, returning heavy with important news of the market and parts which he did not divulge to those at home. The care of the animals fell largely to the children.

Following the eventful Sunday, Judith walked about in a strange dream, not quite realizing what had happened to her. That she had been for a brief space in another world, she knew—a world marvelously familiar in spite of its strangeness. But the music—it enveloped her. She herded cattle, cleaned the stable, or hoed the potatoes to the strains of a waltz.

The melody of a popular song as though it had been a symphony concert that had lodged in her heart. And then, waking, she found Amelie, Ellen, Martin and Charlie going about in the same dumb way, weeding the garden, tending mares in foal, carrying water, leading horses to the trough, searching the sky for rain. Doctor Pictures Evils That Bobbed Heads May Bring to Women

By MARGUERITE MOORE

MARSHALL.

THE BATTLE OF THE BOB, on the issues of morality and modesty, seems to be definitely over; one seldom or never reads stories, these days, of the outraged husband who beats up his wife for getting a haircut, or of the employer who solemnly announces that the girls working for him must wear their hair long. The intelligent mind—whether or not covered by a bobbed coiffure—always found such opposition silly, particularly on the part of the male sex, which almost universally in the Occident has bobbed its own hair for at least 100 years.

But bobbed hair may be considered from another angle of approach—for it's still a subject to consider. If some of the girls are letting it grow, others are shearing it off. What any sensible person naturally wonders is just this: Does bobbing help or hurt the hair? Is the bob a hygienic asset or liability?

"Because of these facts, and because of the law of nature that any tissues mistreated are in time killed off, women may some day be as bald as men, if bobbing continues, and at any rate their hair will be as short, naturally, as men's."

There is another evil resulting from bobbing, however, which already has made itself known. Men, through long exposure, have probably immunized themselves somewhat against the infections of the barber shop, but women are not now so defended. Fewer infections would occur if strict asepsis were always observed.

"Women by the dozen, these days, are coming to the physician with local infections received in the bobbing process. Boils and irritated conditions of the skin on the neck and scalp are becoming prevalent among women for the first time. The skin of men's necks has become toughened, where the hair grows, from constant clipping, and in the rural districts, from the popular 'bush-league' haircut with its neck shave."

Some Helpful Hints

"But women never before have had their necks shaved and clipped. Their skin, therefore, is easily abraded and irritated, or the hair is cut off under the stretched surface of the skin, where, being finer than a man's, it may coil up and form an ingrown hair."

"All sorts of local irritations and infections are apt to be contracted when a clipper is used on a tender neck, for not only does the clipper frequently nip and cut the skin, but the construction of the instrument makes it notoriously hard to sterilize, and it is, therefore, an almost certain carrier of infection."

Dr. Levin also offers some helpful hints to the girls and women who are "letting it grow."

"What will happen if the mode changes, as it gives signs of doing, is an interesting speculation," he says. "Women who let their hair grow again are quite apt to find it has changed materially since it was bobbed. It will very likely be coarser, stiffer, dryer and less lustrous, and the growth in some cases will be much slower."

"Because of the liability to infection, and the fact that its shortness may conceal possible excess shedding, women who intend to let their hair grow long again would do well to consult a physician and give themselves the benefit of early treatment if it should be needed. Otherwise they may meet with unpleasant surprises."

"While the style of wearing false hair has waned in this country, there are signs that it may revive, especially with those women who are letting their bobbed hair grow back. Switches, transformations and artificial curls cut practically in the same way as tight and heavy hats."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

From An Airplane.

LOOK down and see Earth from ten out before your wonder eyes; wider the fields stretch round about while swift as thought you rise. The river winds like a brook, the mountain to a hill, the forest is a garden nook from which those who wish costumes of length of line. That falls away beneath our wing plane, has lost all its drear and gray, its charms all remain. As ordered as a garden plot its roads and meadows show no blemish there, no spot vex the gazing eye. And still up and up we soar, fairer planet grows; old Earth is duller now more, but touched with wonder glows. Could we but dream, away from Earth, embrace, an emerald disc would seem upon the breast of space.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

Here Are Gentlemen.

VERILY, my Daughter, manners are extinct and a "glace polish" is as passe as romantic love.

Still, by many signs canst thou know a "gentleman" from a boor.

For, a man may be self-made; but the Lord maketh a Gentleman in moments of artistic inspiration.

Behold a Blob is full of mushiness and public petting. He vaunteth his tenderness before the gapers and the gossips. He playeth to the gallery and delighteth to be called "sheik".

But, a Gentleman scorneth to make a woman conspicuous. And, though he be a caveman in his wooings, yet, before the multitude, he is full of deference and discretion, and seeketh not to advertise his sentimental prowess.

Lo, when a Gentleman seeketh a damsel's kisses, he inventeth a "reason," therefor and a prop for her pride.

But a Boor saith, "Why be 'fussy'? For, doth not every damsel delight to be petted? And is not a kiss its own reward?"

He is SO sure of himself!

A Gentleman's lovemaking is convincing; for, it containeth at least one-half-of-one-per-cent LOVE! And, while his arms are about one damsel, it is as if no other damsel existed for him.

But, a Blob keepeth a string tied to his sentiment, and dealeth out his caresses as premiums. He causeth a damsel to feel that she is only "one of a crowd."

When two or more women are present, a Gentleman showeth no discrimination between them. And, if the Beauty must be lifted into the canoe, the Chromo, likewise, is carried in his arms, and with the same tenderness.

But, the Goof confineth all his "chivalry" to the Damsel-of-the-moment; and the others are treated as "also-rans."

A Gentleman speaketh not the name of any woman, where the Stags are gathered together; but the mouth of the Fool is full of boastings, and he covereth himself with medals.

A Gentleman remembereth a woman's vanity, to guard it tenderly. Sooner would he lose a game of golf than shatter her pride.

But a Goof prizeth his OWN vanity above all things, and permiteth no woman to think herself TOO important to him.

Verily, verily, a Gentleman shineth among sheiks and cut-ups as a star actor in a company of amateurs.

But a Blob is always a Blob!

Why the Ants Love the Aphids

Be gentle to the one who feeds you
And make him think he really needs you.

—The Ant.

PETER RABBIT looked up at Redwing the Blackbird sitting in the alder above Peter's head. "What is this you are telling me about ants and honey-dew? What is honey-dew and what have ants got to do with it? And what have ants and honey-dew got to do with those white aphids up on that alder branch close to your feet?"

Redwing chuckled. "One question at a time, Peter," said he. "One question at a time. Do you mean to tell me you don't know what honey-dew is?"

"If I knew I wouldn't ask, would I?" replied Peter rather saucily. "I know what honey is. Bees make honey and Buster Bear likes to eat it. And I know what dew is. Dew falls at night and gets the grass all wet. But what dew has to do with honey or what honey has to do with dew, I don't know."

Redwing the Blackbird chuckled again down in his throat. "Honey-dew," said he, "isn't exactly honey and it isn't exactly dew. The aphids make it. It looks like a tiny drop of dew and it's sweet and rather sticky. So it is called honey-dew. The ants love it. That's why they take such good care of the aphids."

"I never have heard of ants taking care of aphids," said Peter in an unbelieving sort of voice.

"Oh, that's all right," replied Redwing. "There are many things you haven't heard of, Peter. I wouldn't be surprised if there were a billion more things that you haven't heard of than that you have heard of. But this is true just the same. Ants take care of aphids and they do it so

"How can ants fight birds?" demanded Peter that they may be sure of plenty of honey-dew. I can see one now getting some honey-dew."

"Oh dear, I wish I could see it," cried Peter. "How is that ant getting the honey-dew?"

"By tickling an aphid," chuckled Redwing.

"You're just trying to stuff me full of nonsense," protested Peter very indignantly.

"Not at all, Peter. Not at all," replied Redwing. "I'm not doing anything of the kind. You know those two little feelers which ants have growing out of their heads?"

Peter nodded. "Yes," said he.

"What of them?"

"Well, this ant is patting one of these aphids on the back with those feelers of hers and the aphid likes it and is making a little drop of honey-dew for the ant. And over there is another ant doing the same with another aphid. I guess if you look down there on the ground you'll see some ants just starting up the alder."

Peter promptly went over to the foot of the alder and looked carefully. Sure enough, there were ants going up and others coming down. He saw that they were all going or coming from the branches on which those white aphids had collected. So he began to suspect that what Redwing had said must be true.

"I never have heard of such a thing," said Peter. "I didn't suppose ants had anything to do with aphids." He said this out loud. Redwing heard him.

"I guess," said Redwing, "you haven't used your eyes a whole lot, Peter. Ants take the greatest care of aphids. They even fight their enemies for them. Yes, sir, they even fight their battles for them. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if some of these ants up here are on guard now."

"How can ants fight birds?"

demanded Peter.

Redwing looked quite as puzzled as he felt. Then it came to him what was in Peter's mind.

AWAITS REPORT ON REORGANIZATION

Some Members Intend Action as Indicating Will Quit League
nied Active Vote.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, June 10.—Brazil decided to decline re-election to the nonpermanent member League of Nations Council. Mello Franco told the Council after a long session. He said the League was vague, and would await the final report of the reorganization commission. Some members of the League interpreted Dr. Mello's statement as indicating that Brazil would resign from the League. The Brazilian delegate, however, said that the League was not to be reorganized. The contents of the statement were not disclosed. Signor Scialoja of Italy, Paul Bencour of France, interpreted the Brazilian statement as an immediate resignation from the Council, but said the Council alone could decide. Spain is unable to accept the Council's reorganization plan, which places her secondary rank of Power. Querebol declared before the League that the League's mission will continue to be a problem and that meanwhile will be diplomatic negotiations with Spain and Brazil. Dr. Azeiteiro of Brazil announced that he would resign from the Council's reorganization mission. The League's mission will continue to be a problem and that meanwhile will be diplomatic negotiations with Spain and Brazil. M. Paul Bencour of France hoped the Spanish statement did not mean that the seat in the Council would be vacant. Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, Minister Vandervelde of Belgium, and Signor Scialoja of Italy, in similar vein, urged Spain to remain in the League. Sir Austen Chamberlain proposed to increase the permanent membership of the League. Foreign Secretary Bencour of Belgium, Benes of Czechoslovakia, and Guani of Uruguay, President of the Council, and Viscount Japan, also appealed for the League to withdraw her valuable labor with the League. Senator Querebol replied that he was deeply touched by the League's attitude, but that the League's report of the Reorganization Commission. A speech which League interpreted as an announcement that Spain will not attend the League Assembly named to a permanent seat was delivered before the Council by Querebol. "I have the honor to the Council," the Spanish man said, "that the Government of Spain, in the desire which it has on every occasion to assist with ideas corresponding to the general aspirations of the League of Nations, has considered it possible to amend Article I of the Covenant. "It desired, by so maintaining its capacity of the Council by means of re-elections until should come for the Council of Spain as a permanent member of the Council. "As the present situation of the League of Nations, and as the League has prevented Spain from the amendment to the Covenant, the Government now has decided to proceed with ratification of the amendment to Article I of the Covenant. The amendment authorizes the League of Nations to fix the permanent members of the Council. Spain was the only member of the Council who had not ratified the amendment. The amendment of retaining the permanent membership in the League of Nations, and by it Spain can the League's temporary members."
